Senior lunchroom begins operation

The senior cafeteria, an innovation at Romulus High School, began operation last Wednesday, the first day of school.

The cafeteria is partially intended to reinforce the school rule of requiring students on the premises during lunch hour.

Three different lunch sequences are in effect to handle the senior class volume of 350 students.

"It is their lunch room," said Pincipal Al Sheffield. "They control it and there will not be any monitors or supervisors."

"Seniors should be adult enough to control and handle something like that," he continued. "No underclassmen are allowed in there," he added.

Mack is on Huron agenda

Milton Mack, the Wayne County Commissioner for the 11th District which includes Romulus and Huron Township, asked to be placed on the Huron Township Board agenda this evening.

Mack will give an update of the findings of the Wayne County Solid Waste Planning Committee regarding the proposal of the solid waste site at Sibley and I-275.

Mack was appointed by the Wayne County executive officer William Lucas to be the area representative on the Solid Waste Committee, primarily because he represents as commissioner the area effected by the landfills — Huron, Sumpter, Van Buren, Canton, and Romulus.

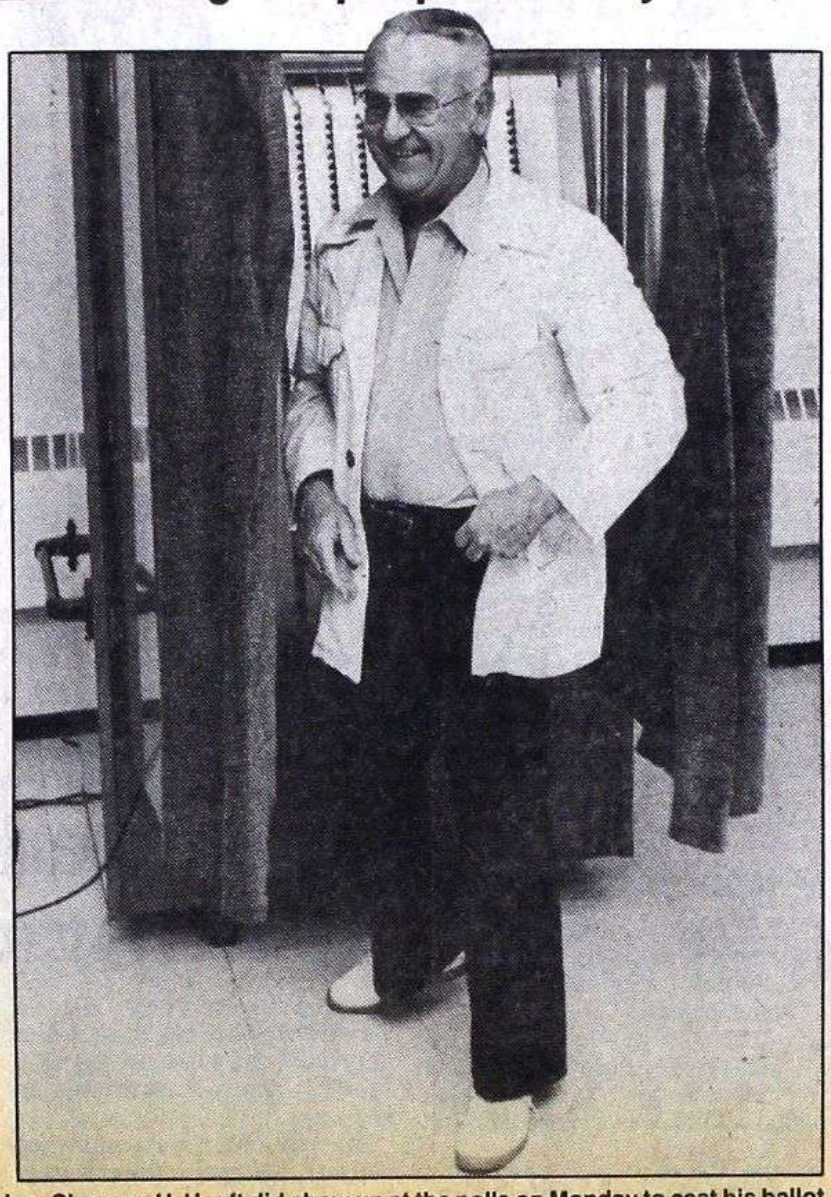
MARY ANN BANKS

JOHN LEWKOWICZ



Unlike the majority of voters in Romulus, Clarence H. Hoeft did show up at the polls on Monday to cast his ballot in the primary and school millage election. Hoeft said that he has voted "for over 35 years" as he exited out of the booth at the 18th precinct, but wouldn't predict the outcome of the election. The two school millage proposals were defeated by a wide margin and Mary Ann Banks (insert, upper left corner) remained the people's choice as the Mayor Pro Tem of the City Council with more votes than any of the potential 16 candidates for council. John Lewkowicz (insert, bottom left) was the top vote getter in the race for the City Treasurer's Office. Voters will decide who'll be on council, in the city treasurer and city clerk's offices as well as who'll serve as mayor in the Nov. 8 General Election.

Romulus says 'No' to school millage hike

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
Special ANP Writer

Two school millage propositions were defeated, two treasury and two council candidates eliminated in Romulus elections Monday night.

The propositions for school millage, for 1½ and 6 mills respectively, were trounced by margins of roughly 62 per cent to 38 per cent.

In the treasury runoff, John B. Lewkowicz, a former Romulus treasurer and current councilman, was the highest vote-getter of four candidates, amassing 1143 votes.

An 18-year city-government employe, Rita G. McLenon, received 975 votes, and will face Lewkowicz in the final election for treasurer on Nov. 8.

Eliminated from the treasury race were Gerry Canejo, 455 votes, and Lnng Coleman with 283.

In the council race, candidates Justin K. Genson, Sr. and Edward Thomas, Jr. were eliminated from a field of 16, leaving 14 to vie for the seven council seats in the final election.

'It's obvious that there is still a big communications job to do."

Dr. William Bedell, Superintendent of Schools

Top vote-getter was once again Mary Ann Banks, Mayor Pro Tem, who received a thundering 1971 votes.

Another council veteran, Jimmie C. Raspberry, finished strong as well with 1560 ballots.

Four other council incumbents finished with figures above the 1100 mark: Fred Junior Block, 13-year councilman, 1354; Alan R. Lambert, 1283; Barry Baumann, 1217; and Noah P. Bergeron, Jr., 1193.

Lambert, Baumann, and Bergeron are all seeking their second terms on council.

The eight other candidates who made the cutoff are: Kathleen McCallum, 939; Ellis T. Pennington, 937; William Wadsworth, 815; Richard K. Yeramian, 728; Fred Williams, 600; John O. Lewis, 583; Roger J. Cadaret, 525; and Theodore W. Jacques, 508.

All results are unofficial.

The vote margin on Proposition A, operating millage for Romulus schools of 6 mills was 790 - yes; and 2031 - no. On Proposition B, maintenance millage of 1½ mills: 822 - yes; and 2021 - no.

"It's obvious we still have a big communications job to do," said Romulus School Superintendent Bill Bedell.

"I'm sure that the school board intends to put the millage before the people again on Nov. 8 in the final city election," he added.

Total votes cast in the Tuesday election were 3108, considered one of the "lightest turnouts in some time" by one veteran Romulus politician.

The weather throughout the election day was radiant — sunny and blue with a slight breeze.

In the Nov. 8 election, a more heavyweight slate is promised, with Mayor William Oakley facing a challenge from City Treasurer Beverly McAnally.

For City Clerk, incumbent Ray Cantrell will be challenged by Linda Choate, a former deputy city clerk.

In addition, there will be the treasurer and council competitions, and possibly school millage propositions.

City Council rejects request for foster care home license

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

The Romulus City Council last week refused to approve a license for a foster care home in the city. The vote was unanimous.

The license was requested for DuBose Adult Foster Care Home at 35107 Lynn Drive to house four to six young adults.

The vote marked the 6th time that the Romulus Council has not approved a license for a foster care home, and has instead sent a formal protest to the Department of Social Services in Lansing which has the final say whether the home will be established.

Of the six, only one, on Hunt Street at the North end of the city, has been established. It is unknown whether the Council disapproval was a factor in the failure of the other five homes to be established.

The first foster care home in Romulus was established on Farnum Street in 1978, a year after Public Act 28 of 1977 went into effect.

PA 28 eased the way for foster care facilities in the state, providing legislation against discrimination within communities.

There are now 12 foster care homes in Romulus, a city of 25,000.

PA 28 also provides a stipulation that a community can avoid an "exessive concentration" of foster care homes. The act states that "no license will be granted if its issuance would contribute to an excessive concentration of community residential facilities".

Prior to the city council vote, a public hearing was held lasting two hours. About 75 residents attended, presenting a petition with 57 signatures opposing the home.

The petition cited objections, primarily regarding the size of the home, a three-bedroom, one-bathroom brick home. The petition questioned whether such a facility was large enough to house six adults comfortably.

Many of the residents voiced their objections during the long hearing. On hand representing the home was Rose DuBose who filed the application, and Virginia Fuller, Adult Foster Care Licensing Consultant of the Department of Social Services; and Dr. Jones James Clinton, personal advisor.

On hand at the hearing was State Rep. Edward Mahalak, a resident in the area of the proposed home, who voiced his objection to the home as did most members of the Council.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry, however, came nearest to explaining to the residents the reality of the matter, from the point of view of the law.

Raspberry noted that the Romulus city Council had rejected requests for licenses in the past, but the homes were established anyway.

Phone drive scheduled in Huron

Landfill millage drive picks up momentum

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
Special ANP Writer

A major telephone drive is slated to get out the vote for the Sept. 20 millage election in Huron.

The millage, asking two mills for two years to provide funds to fight landfills, is regarded as critical in the battle against two landfill developers who are proposing to establish a solid waste and toxic waste landfill in the township.

The solid waste landfill, backed by the Lyons Development Company, already has a construction permit for the site at Sibley and I-275.

The toxic waste landfill, backed by Environmental Management Systems, is in the process of filing an application with the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) on its behalf.

The funds provided by the millage, if it should pass, would be primarily used to pay for expert legal counsel.

"Money is needed for the landfill fight," said Vicki Lyons, secretary of the Huron Valley Citizens Association, an anti-landfill activist group.

"If the millage doesn't pass," she continued, "we will have to go directly to the people for contributions."

Jay Dorenbecker, trustee and publicity chairman of the group, has set up a telephone communication system involving 20 workers who will contact homes in the community to get out the vote.

The telephone workers will be making calls from their homes.

There are 5800 registered voters in Huron out of a population of 10,000.

In the last millage election in late April for school millage, a proposal for a total of 4 mills, with selective propositions for less millage if desired, was defeated by a margin of 2-1.

The landfill millage proponents face the same obstacles: promoting the issue; convincing the senior citizens that some of their tax money will be rebated in the spring; and finally getting out the vote.

Flyers announcing the election will also be distributed the week before the election, and at the polls election day.

The Waltz community, traditionally a negative vote on school millage elections, according to local political experts, will be a focus of the get-out-the-vote campaign.

However, this job may be made easier since Waltz is located only a half-mile from the proposed toxic waste site at Will Carleton and I-275.

The Waltz and Willow communities have between 2000-3000 residents.

The Huron Valley Citizens Association has registered over 500 members in its summer campaign. How many of those members that the organization can recruit to work in the campaign will be crucial, Association officials say.

The project is among the hottest issues in Huron history. No less than 2,223 persons, literally a quarter of the total population, signed a petition opposing landfills.

On the ballot will be one proposition, asking for 2 mills for 2 years to provide funds for the "defense, safety, and welfare of the community."

The total millage would provide about $380,000 over a two-year period.

Services age held for Emma K. Moore, 'turn of century' mailcarrier

Emma K. Moore, the wife of the late George W. Moore of Hannan Road, died at the age of 89 in Whitehall Convalescent Center, Novi, on August 25.

The eldest daughter of Louis and Wilhelmina Giegler, Mrs. Moore was born in Romulus Township, and lived on her parent's farm on South Huron River Drive until her marriage in 1919 to George W. Moore.

As a young woman Mrs. Moore was a rural mail carrier for the Romulus district during World War I and often told stories of the times when muddy roads meant that a horse and buggy had to be used for deliveries.

A major interest in Mrs. Moore's life was her association with the Order of the Eastern Star, as Past Matron and Life Member of Belleville Chapter No. 73, as a Wayne County Marshall and Grand Page of the organization, and as a member of the White Shrine of Jerusalem.

She was also a member of St. Paul's Cathedral, Detroit, and of St. Margaret's Guild of that church. An interest in local history led to membership in the Michigan Historical Society and the Historical Societies of Romulus, Wayne, and Dearborn.

Funeral services were conducted at the Uht Funeral Home, Wayne, on August 29, by Rev. Richard Ingalls of Mariner's Church, Detroit, and were followed by interment in Tyler Street Cemetery.

Survivors include son, Jasper Moore and daughter-in-law Harriet J. Moore of Birmingham, three grandchildren, Catherine Anderson of Pittsburgh, Robbe Moore of Belleville, Emily Moore of Evanston, Illinois, and stepdaughter Mrs. Wendell (Mary) Green of West Bloomfield.

At Wyandotte Savings Bank

Auto dealers to display new cars

During the summer of '83, pent-up consumer demand, the release of exciting new car models, and lower interest rates all contributed to a resurgence in auto sales. To help maintain the momentum into Fall, Wyandotte Savings Bank and 18 Downriver Area auto dealerships have announced their special "Great Rate Auto Loan" campaign, scheduled from September 15th to October 14th.

"We're vitally aware of the importance of the auto industry to the local economy," says Stan Blackson, vice president of Wyandotte Savings Bank. "And we're working together with local auto dealers to make it as easy as possible for prospective new car buyers to shop for a new car."

WSB has made arrangements with the dealers to display a wide selection of makes and models at bank offices throughout the bank's marketing area, including Wyandotte, Dearborn Heights, Taylor, Romulus, Van Buren Township, and Brownstown Township. Blackson notes, "For our customers who haven't had a chance to see what's new in the auto market, these display cars will provide a convenient way to start the shopping process."

In the Downriver area, participating auto dealers include: Century Dodge, Inc., Taylor AMC-Jeep-Renault Inc., Taylor Chrysler-Plymouth Inc., Ray Witfield Ford, Inc., Walt Lazar Chevrolet, Inc., Zubor Buick-Datsun Inc., Heritage Motors-Cadillac, Pete Lincoln Chevrolet Inc., Atchinson Ford Sales Inc., Dick McQuiston Ford Inc., Stu Evans Lincoln-Mercury Southgate Inc., Southgate Ford Inc., Dick Genthe Chevrolet Inc., Melton Motors Inc.-VW-Honda, Bill Rowan Oldsmobile Inc., Tessier Pontiac & GMC Trucks Inc., Thompson Chrysler-Plymouth Inc., Thompson Toyota Inc.

The "Great Rate Auto Loan" campaign theme arose out of Wyandotte Savings Bank's long-standing reputation in the community for low-cost auto loans, Blackson explains. "Over the years, WSB has always been at the top of the list of places to go for auto financing at competitive rates," he says. Now, with the return of lower interest rates, we are very happy to announce that 'Great Rate Auto Loans Are Back' in town".

In addition to low rates, Blackson also says Wyandotte Savings Bank auto loans now feature Simple Interest, which can lower the total cost of the loan when the borrower pre-pays the loan or makes larger payments.

The idea for displaying new cars from local dealers at WSB offices is a natural outgrowth of the close working relationship Wyandotte Savings Bank has with area dealerships. WSB "Great Rate Auto Loans" may be applied for at all WSB locations and at all participating auto dealers. And inquiries about the display cars at WSB offices will be referred to corresponding dealerships.

Potential danger removed

Romulus asbestos is removed

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
Special ANP Writer

The asbestos problem at Romulus High School became a part of past history, four days before school started.

In a cleanup operation, Romulus custodial workers had to work extensive hours during the 4-day interval including Labor Day weekend to clear out the debris and replace furniture at Romulus High to be ready for school opening.

"The custodial crew really worked their backs off," said Joel Carr, business administrator.

The asbestos removal, the subject of a 3-year controversy, took a special decision by the Board of Education to complete.

It cost $101,000 to remove and replace asbestos-containing material from the ceiling, some 47,000 feet of work.

The asbestos removing crew took 10 weeks to remove the material.

"The contractor did a fantastic job," said School Supt. William Bedell. "They met the deadline."

"We are particularly pleased that the replacement material is so much lighter, brightening the building considerabley."

In Huron Township

County to pay chloriding tab

By JERRY DesHARNAIS
Special ANP Writer

Huron Township will have its gravel road maintainance program restored by the Wayne County Road Commission, effective immediately.

The decision is a consequence of a ruling by Judge Sharon Tevis, a Wayne County Circuit Court judge, following four days of testimony in a class action suit brought by the supervisors of 7 townships.

The case bagan when the Wayne County Road Commissioners notified the townships in December of 1981 that the county could no longer affored to dust spray (chloride) gravel roads after 1982.

Following complaints, members of the Wayne County Road Commission and some township supervisors had a meeting and it was agreed that the Wayne County Road Commissioners would pay 50 percent of the chloriding treatment and the townships would pay the other 50 percent "under protest."

Meanwhile, the townships filed a "class action" suit maintaining that this was a responsibility of the County.

The court case started early this summer. Authorities from the American Lung Association and the Wayne County Air Pollution Control Board appeared on behalf of the townships citing the hazard to the health of the residents bordering the roads.

The decision means that the county will assume the full cost of chloriding gravel roads in Huron Township.

In 1983, the total cost of chloriding of local roads (not counting primary roads which are handled by the County) was $21,456.

The other townships effected by this ruling were: Canton, Sumpter, Van Buren, Brownstown; and the cities of Grosse Ile, Northville, Plymouth, and Redford.

Swimming pool is set to open

Preparations are being made to open the Huron High School swimming pool to the public and parochial elementary school students in Huron.

Hurom schools are tageting for a Monday, Sept. 19 opening.

The pool will be available, cost-free, to all elementary students in the Huron School District during school hours.

Students will be transported from the elementary schools by buses to Huron High School as part of the regular bus run.

The entire project is being funded through the Extra-Curricular Activities Fund, a private fund-raising group.

The Huron High School pool was closed in the fall of 1981 in the wake of budget cuts. It has been locked and not used by any students or for any activities for two years.

About $30,000 a year will be needed to operate the pool during the upcoming academic year.

Part of the money will be spent for pool supervision and care.

Senior citizens in Huron will be able to use the pool on Tuesdays from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

High school students are scheduled now for the first 2 periods of the day.

Elementary and junior high and parachial students are currently being scheduled.

"We are very excited to be opening the pool for community use," said Roger Benner, Community Education Director. "We are pleased with the support we have had in relation to our fund-raising activities."

Huron clerk heads landfill study unit

Mary Lou Carey, Huron Township Clerk, has been appointed the chairperson of a landfill study committee in Lansing.

The purpose of the committee will be to determine the effects of landfills on residents in townships.

Various members of Gov. Jim Blanchard's staff involved in solid waste management, have been invited to attend the meeting on Sept. 16 at the Michigan Township Association office in Lansing.

The committee is an adjunct of MTA.

On Aug. 30, Mrs. Carey was a panelist before the Top Management Meeting of the Department of Natural Resources (DNR). She represented the MTA commitee which she chairs.

Carey pointed out to the DNR representatives "their lack of concern in issuing permits for landfills," she said.

20 communities to participate?

Anti-landfill caravan planned

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
Special ANP Writer

An anti-landfill caravan to Lansing, including residents from Huron and 20 other communities, is being planned for September.

The bus junket, organized by two Huron residents — Sheila Page and Vicki Lyons — may include as many as 20 buses bearing citizens protesting landfills in their communities.

Lyons, secretary of the Huron Valley Citizens Association, outlined plans for the protest at the group's informational meeting at Huron High School Wednesday night.

"The purpose of the trip will be to let the public officials know of our disatisfaction at the handling of current landfills and their rezdiness to allow more into the state," she said.

"We will be urging the elected officials to vote for resolution 452 which is a one-year moratorium on landfills.

Lyons and Page will be contacting the offices of Gov. James Blanchard and the local state representatives; Rep. Richard Sullivan, Rep. Joseph Porreca, Rep. Edward Mahalak, Rep. John Dingell, Sen. Sen. William Faust, and U.S. Rep. William Ford.

The intention will be to ask support and to have these officials on hand in Lansing to address the protest.

The date of the protest is pending until responses are received from the officials.

The bus protest is likely to be on a weekday, Lyons said.

Anti-dump stand receives praise

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
Special ANP Writer

"It's deja vu. You see it again and again all over the state of Michigan."

Ardath Regan, the president of Holly, Michigan, was speaking of the developing landfill saga in Huron Township.

"What you have in Huron Township," she continued, "which is a big advantage is enthusiastic people who can cut through the reams and volumes of research."

"They will be a savings factor in tax dollars because they will become the real specialists of the community."

Regan, who is an active member of several state and national environmental groups, was on hand as the main speaker of the Huron Valley Citizens Association meeting at Huron High School last Wednesday.

She spoke before some 200 residents about the problems of battling landfills in communities, and then answered questions from the floor.

Her own community of Holly has been faced with the same problem of landfills.

"In the past it was always assumed that citizens only reacted," she said. "But now they have passed beyond that and are into education."

"That is what you have going for you in this community," she observed. "They (citizens) may save you about 2 years with that knowledge."

Regan was asked for advice in Huron's upcoming struggle against landfills.

"Don't blame everything on the Department of Natural Resources (DNR)," she replied. "Don't blame any single agency as a scapegoat. Actually, we should have told our last governor about landfills, but we stood by and now we are looking for someone to blame.

Regan said that the active citizenry will someday become part of "The very natural web" which will become the "nucleus" which will change the state of Michigan.

Another bit of advice the Holly president gave to the anti-landfill activists in Huron was "don't re-invent the wheel. If there is already a formula which can tell a group what to do and look for, then use it."

She explained that there now exist computer centers which provide information on every aspect of landfills. This information is available to lawyers as a service.

"There are many of us throughout the state of Michigan who have gained knowledge and feel a responsibility to spread that knowledge to others," she said, explaining why she elects to speak before various groups.

"Now this group feels just as committed to spread that knowledge," she added.

Ardath Regan, a mother of 5 children and 3 grandchildren, is not only involved in landfill issues in politics.

She is a historical writer. She has written children's books and has recently written a play on Carrie Nation, about to be produced in her community.

Regan is also in the process of writing a novel and a history on Carrie Nation.

Ardath Regan is also goodhearted. She donated her speaker's traveler allowance of $25, back to the organization which gave it to her, the Huron Valley Citizen's Association.

'What you have in Huron Township, which is an advantage, is enthusiastic people.'

Pals to compete for $25,000 prize

By SUE BACHAND
ANP News Editor

Beauty, it's said, is in the eye of the beholder...and to the Welsh family of Westland, Aggie is just about the most beautiful thing they've ever seen.

Her beauty is enhanced, somewhat, by the recent announcement by the Ralston-Purina Co. that Aggie, a 60 pound English Bulldog, and her best friend. Marie Welsh, 15 months old, are among the finalists in the $25,000 Great American Dog Contest.

Donna Welsh entered a photo of her daughter and her dog in the contest after reading the registration requirements on a bag of (what else?) Purina Dog Chow.

"Well, Aggie eats Purina and I just thought, why not? They are so cute together and they really are the best buddies," she said.

Welsh determined to get that perfect snapshot required and thought, she admitted, that with a toddler, and a bulldog, she might have trouble getting exactly the photo she wanted to enter the contest. "I didn't though...I only snapped about six of them and there it was.

"You know, I thought of dressing the baby all up and fussing, but when I saw the picture of her in her jeans, giving Aggie a kiss, I knew that was the one I wanted — it was real," she said.

While Aggie and Marie are somewhat oblivious to the prospect of riches and fame, their "parents" are pretty excited, they confess.

The semifinalists will now be narrowed down to a field of five and photos of the contestants will appear in newspaper advertising. Dog lovers across the nation will have the opportuniuty to vote on the "Great American Dog" who will win a new collar, the $25,000 and be pictured on more than two million bags of dog chow. In addition, the winner will receive a year's supply of dog food, and a four-day trip to New York City for the whole family to participate on a special float in the Macy's Thanksgiving Parade.

Council rejects foster care license

state law during the hearing and said that the only recourse that the Council had was a formal protest to the Department of Social Services in Lansing. Other than that, it was beyond the Council's power.

During the Council meeting, prior to the vote, Raspberry said:

"Romulus . . . had more than our fair share of these facilities. We feel, based on public opinion including these public hearings, that the people of this community are fed up. because they feel they have their fair share and because the locations in which these homes are placed have not been selected based on the feasibility and the care of the clients." Raspberry continued, "Therefore, I think the resolution is appropriate, I don't think we have selected or singled out this proposed facility as one. This body here has in the past, I would say in the last five, sent letters of protest to the Department of Social Services based on the density, location, and codes and everything else, so this particular facility."

"There is one in my community where I live. We were against that. Another one is on Ecorse. We were against that . . . so, I feel we have our fair share and I think the Department of Social Services ought to take in consideration of the feelings of the people.

P.A. 28 has eased the way for foster care home facilities in the state...

"These meetings have been well attended. The people have been open with their feelings . . . therefore as a protest I think this resolution should go through on behalf of the people, and to the City Attorney based on the objections we have to be presented to the Department of Social Services," Rasberry concluded.

The resolution itself cited the petition itself, the question as to "excessive concentration of such facilities in our community and the health and safety conditions of such a facility . . ."

The resolution also noted that the proposed licensee has not applied for a Certificate of Occupancy as required by the city ordinance.

It requested that the Department of Social Services request to the city to approve said license be denied and the City Attorney be instructed to file an appropriate complaint with the Department requesting denial of license.

In other business, the Council voted unanimously to award a $526,040 contract to the Holloway Construction Company to do the 1983 street paving program.

The following projects will be part of the program:

- Middlebelt-Ecorse subdivision: Charles, Kenwood, Kampa, Burton, Dodge, Hollywood, and Farnham.
- Tyler Road: Cogswell to Ozga.
- Avalon: Wayne to Chamberlin.
- Grant/Wayne subdivision: Hunt, Grove, and Gabriel.
- Roamin/Chase/Meredith/Perry.
- Haskell: west of Grover.

The purchase of a hydraoulic ditching machine was also approved, at the cost of $154,000, from the Doheny Supplies Inc.

The council also voted unanimously to approve the authorization to let bids for three different projects, as requested by Mayor William Oakley:

- The crack and joint sealing work in the Meadow Subdivision.
- The high performance cold patch to fill pot holes in Romulus' asphalt roads.
- Sewer cleaning in the Meadow Subdivision, on Brandt and Meadow Streets.

In other matters, a petition for a permit to the Romulus High Student Government requesting permits for a Walk-a-Thon and Homecoming Parade Sept. 24 and Oct. 7 respectively, was granted.

Another petitioner, Fred Christensen, addressed the Council regarding illegal occupancy of a Romulus resident, and unkempt premises in the City. The Council agrred to look into his complaints and requested a report from the administration to the council on the matter, promising a copy to Christensen, as requested by Councilman Raspberry.

In a final matter, some resolutions recommended by the Board of Trustees of the Michigan Muncipal League were unanimously approved by the Council.

One deals with adult foster care community placement procedures which in effect would grant more autonomy for the community in this regard.

And another deals with a request that all municipalities regardless of size to levy a transient guest tax. In Romulus, for instance, this tax would be imposed on tourism in local hotels which accommodate the people using Metro Airport.

Treasurer Beverly McAnally and Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks cited some of the resolutions published by the Michigan Municipal League which were finally adopted by the council.

The hearing and the meeting, last Wednesday, lasted more than four hours.

In a final item, the City Council authorized the early release and payment of election workers checks in the amount of $4,990, to be issued to the election workers on Friday, Sept. 16, four days after the city primary.

The hearing and the meeting, last Wednesday, lasted more than four hours.

'Helping hand'

Karen Harber, branch manager of the Bank of the Commonwealth (at 11531 Belleville Road) presents a $300 check to Florence Klein, a volunteer from the Helping Hand Thrift Shop in Romulus. "We wanted to donate to an agency serving the community," says Harber, "and the store helps a lot of people who are unemployed."

Attendance hits first-day high at Romulus High: 95%

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

Romulus High School had a 95 per cent attendance its first day of school, the highest attendance in memory, when the 1983-84 academic year started Wednesday, Sept. 7.

'I think this indicates a significant change of attitude.'

Principal Al Sheffield

"I think this indicates a significant change in attitude by the students about settling down to work," said Al Sheffield, Romulus High principal.

Romulus High includes grades 9 through 12, and numbers 1,499 students. The 95 per cent figure represents 1425 students who attended.

Romulus School Board instituted a new attendance policy this year for the high school which allows students 10 absences, excused or unexcused, per term. If a student accumulates more than 10, failure of the course is automatic. An appeal procedure is part of the system, however.

Whether the new attendance policy is a partial cause for the high first-day attendance figure is uncertain.

This is the second year that the school has enrolled 9th graders as part of its student body.

This year's senior class, about 350 students, is larger by 67 students than last June's graduation

Ther are 440 students in this year's freshman class.

Eight-five faculty members, the same number as last year, make up the Romulus High staff.

Wick school is picked for unique study

Newspaper series to focus on Romulus

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

The Detroit Free Press has selected a Romulus elementary class to follow and publish its progress during the entire school year.

A 5th grade class at Wick Elementary, taught by Mary Frank, a veteran 10-year teacher, will be visited periodically by Free Press education reporter Nancy Ross.

The newspaper-school project if modeled after a similar series in Long Beach, Calif.

There, the reporter interviewed students and parents at the beginning of the school year and then followed periodically individual and class activities throughout the year.

The intention is for the readers to become familiar with individual students, the teacher, and the class to gain an insight into what its like to learn in the 5th grade.

In addition to the class' special activities such as field trips, the Long Beach series attempted to show what the daily activities and homework assignments wer for the class.

The series also attempted to show individual student progress on tests and general achievement.

The series also published actual tests for the reader to take along with the 35 students.

"Mary Frank was selected," said Supt. William Bedell, "from a number of our outstanding teachers because she has the ability, creativity and temperment for this unique situation."

Mrs. Frank came to Romulus School District in the 1973-74 school year. She is 53 years old and the mother of five children.

She has a reputation within the district for performing innovative school exercises within her classroom.

Interestingly, Mrs. Frank came to teaching after establishing her own family and obtaining her college degree on a parttime basis.

"She brings enthusiasm and creativity into the classroom," said Wick principal Richard Good.

"She's one of these folks who bring her own living experience to teaching," said Supt. Bedell. "I think it will be an exciting experience for the kids and the Detroit Free Press readers as well. It should be enlightening."

A class gift

Officers of Belleville High School's graduating class of 1982 proudly present their class gift, a school flag, to high school administrators. The flag will fly to mark the opening of school, and on future occasions to honor distinguished students and faculty. Funds needed to fight landfill

HVCA trustee urges 'Yes' vote

"The people have to realize this is more serious than what they're thinking."

Jay Dorenbecker, trustee and publicity director of the Huron Valley Citizens Association, is speaking of the upcoming millage election Sept. 20.

"You have to fight landfills with the facts. To get the facts you have to hire professionals," he continued. "They have to have the credentials to make them credible witnesses for the site review board, whether in person or by their study reports."

Dorenbecker has an active role in the job of getting the millage passed. One primary activity prior to the election will be a telephone drive to get out the vote.

"Our phone system of volunteer callers will have the goal of contacting 1000 residents of Huron Township. The system is set up and the calls will be made prior to the election.

"A kid's group (KAL — Kids Against Landfills) will be passing out flyers throughout the Township."

The publicity director also said that posters will be placed in local businesses promoting the millage.

"I believe the millage will pass," he said.

"I talked to a lot of people who did not vote for the school millage who are going to vote for this," he added.

Search for anti-landfill lawyer is completed

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

The interviews of 12 candidates for the position of legal consul on environmental issues (landfills) were completed by Huron Township last Friday.

The interviews began two weeks ago and have been conducted by Huron Township administrators and seven representatives of the Huron Valley Citizens Association, an anti-landfill group.

Each candidate had to reply to approximately 10 basic questions on environmental issues.

For instance, a question concerned the content of Public Act 641 and PA 64 dealing with solid waste and toxic waste landfills respectively.

Another question asked how many cases the lawyer had tried in the past three years regarding environmental issues.

A meeting was scheduled for Tuesday night this week to review the committee's findings and narrow the candidates to 2 or 3 for recommendation to the Township Board.

This Wednesday evening, the final selection of the legal expert will take place, at the regular board meeting.

The role of the designated authority will be to assist the Township in reviewing the application of the proposed toxic waste and solid waste sites and Will Carleton and I-275 respectively.

Another duty will be to prepare the Township's presentation to the State's Site Review Board which has the final say whether the landfill will be allowed.

Trash bash Sept. 18

"A "Trash Bash", a dance on the dumps, is planned with the purpose of raising money to fight landfills in Huron Township.

The dance is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 18, at the Waltz Improvement Field.

The purpose of the affair is to get funds for the Huron Valley Citizens Association, an anti-landfill group.

Speakers, entertainment including Joe Prater and the Huron Valley Boys, and balloon rides will highlight the noon to 10 p.m. affair.

The Huron Chamber of Commerce, the Huron Athletic Association, and the Waltz Improvement Association are the sponsors of the event.

Tickets are being sold at $5 per carload. Huron businesses and groups are providing the tickets.

Refreshments will be available. All are welcome.

Belleville youth places well at standardbred show

Wayne County 4-H'er, Elizabeth Herring of Belleville, placed fourth in conformation judging at the Michigan 4-H Standardbred Production Project Show recently in Adrian.

The show was the final activity in a number of events planned to help Michigan 4-H members participating in the Michigan 4-H Standardbred Production Project to develop a greater understanding of the Michigan harness horse raising industry.

4-H members involved in the production program are given a weanling Standardbred foal to raise for one year. During the year the 4-H'ers attend a number of workshops and field trips designed to help them learn about harness horse breeding, training and racing. They also work with the foals to teach them basic stable and trailering manners.

At the end of the program, members bring their yearlings to a special show so that judges and prospective buyers can evaluate the horses' conditioning and training and potential as winning harness horses.

The yearlings are sold at an auction, and 4-H members receive one-third of the selling price after expenses. The breeder who donated the horse to the program receives the remainder.

Selling prices for this year's horses ranged from $1,100 to $8,200, with the average price being $3,100.

The Michigan Standardbred Horse Production Project is jointly sponsored by the Michigan Harness Horsemen's Association, the Michigan Standardbred Breeders' Association and the Michigan 4-H — Youth Program.

Horses for this year's project were made available by: Shiawassee Farms of Durand; William Buggs of St. Johns; Patrick Heeney of Stockbridge; John Donley of Elwell; William Milne III and James Downing Jr., both of Northville; Charles Keene and Carl Mayes, both of Mt. Pleasant; Lowell Trigg of Brighton; and Paul Linehan of Adrian.

Local youth get 'galaxy' invitation

Myra Fliak of Romulus, Sandy and Dale Gehringer of Romulus, Louis and Jeff Nemeth of Belleville, and Bobbi and Helen Anne Fairman of Belleville have been invited to participate in the fall 4-H Horse Galaxy meeting September 17-18.

The Wayne County 4-H'ers will join other 1983-84 Horse Developmental Committee and subcommittee members at the conference at Kettunen Center, the state's leadership training facility in Tustin.

"The purpose of the meeting is to bring together Extension 4-H youth agents, program assistants, and adult and teen horse leaders who are members of the committee to discuss policies of the state 4-H horse program and to plan horse events," says Connie Testorelli, Wayne County Program Assistant.

The conference will also give 4-H horse leaders a chance to compare county programs and share their experiences in an effort to strengthen the Michigan r-H horse program. Subcommittee members will evaluate the past year's programs and review and develop plans for the coming year's events.

The workshop is made possible by grants from the Anderson Foundation of Maumee, Ohio, and Sparta State Bank through the Michigan 4-H Foundation.

For more information about the horse conference or other 4-H activities, contact Testorelli at the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service office, or call 721-6576.

3 county commissioners accept salary reduction

Three Wayne County Commissioners, Chairman William Suzore, Milton Mack and Edward J. Plawecki, took a 20 percent pay cut effective Friday, Sept. 9, in keeping with recent reductions in county employee salaries.

Nearly 2,000 county employees were ordered to begin a four-day work week last month in an effort by County Executive William Lucas to ease expenses.

Commissioners Mack (D-Wayne) and Plawecki (D-Dearborn) were elected to the commission last November while Chairman Suzore (D-Lincoln Park) is one of the senior members of the Board.

All three expressed their desire to voluntarily return 20 percent of their pay to the county treasurer until county workers are returned to their regular working hours.

"We've all got to contribute," they said. "It's not equitable to take a full pay check if others aren't."

Wayne Disposal fined $300

A landfill operator in Van Buren Township was fined $300 on a misdemeanor charge for failing to provide adequate coverage of disposal.

Michael Ferrantino, president of Wayne Disposal located at Willow Run and I-94, pleaded guilty to the charge before Judge James B. Stone of the 34th District Court.

The citation was issued on June 6 by a Public Health sanitarian inspector, Mike Droze, of the Wayne County Health Department.

Specifically, the company was cited for failing to provide 6 inches of earth cover on refuse, a requirement listed under Public Act 641.

In Ferrantino's defense, it was pointed out that a ¾-inch rainfall the evening before prevented the operator from completing the fill. The inspector issued the violation around 7 a.m. the following morning.

Maximum penalty for the offense is a $1000 fine or 6 months in jail.

This is the second recorded instance since April 26, 1982 of lack of compliance. Judge Stone noted.

Dr. Anderson's credo: 'Don't live with or in pain'

By EVE SILBERMAN
ANP Staff Writer

Dr. Thomas Anderson, Belleville's new chiropractor-in-town, runs a family style business.

Wife Gail balances the books, takes phone calls with a smile in her voice, and makes sure, she explains, that "the doc" knows "what's what at what time." Daughter Lindsay, 10 months, is a pint-sized goodwill ambassador who, toddling about in the office, brightens up the waiting interval for (frequently nervous) patients.

"At first, we weren't sure that working together all day was a good idea," Gail recalls. "We talked about it a lot before we decided to go ahead. But so far, we're very satisfied with the arrangement."

In business a little more than a month, Anderson took over the 14-year old practice of Dr. James Henry who was, the new chiropractor says, "a hard act to follow."

"Dr. Henry was very popular with his patients," Anderson explains from his office (in a cheerful yellow frame house at 125 West Columbia). "Happily, he stayed on for a couple of weeks after I started, introducing me to new patients and helping us get oriented."

Before coming to Belleville, Anderson assisted two chiropractors in Jackson and Clinton. He received his degree from Life Chiropractic College (in Marietta, Georgia) in 1982.

Belleville is, he says, "an ideal location" for the Anderson Chiropractic Health Clinic. "It's a nice, small town atmosphere — just what we were looking for," he says. "Our families are nearby. Gail's parents live in Westland; mine in Ypsilanti."

While more patients are seeking chiropractic help now than in the past, Anderson acknowledges that "some confusion and controversey" still surrounds his profession. In part, that's why he asks all new patients to attend an hour long orientation on Wednesday night.

"I try to make clear to patients what we do and don't do," he says. "We aren't a 'cure all;' we don't offer a cure for cancer. But we think we should be a first step for anyone seeking medical help — right along with the general physician."

Chiropractors are guided by the theory that spinal adjustment is the key to reducing pain and controlling disease. "Following the initial exam, a treatment session often lasts just 15 minutes," Anderson says. "What I usually do (during this time) is adjust the bones to take pressure off the nervous system."

Backaches and "whiplash" are among the most common reasons people see chiropractors, Anderson says. "For example, in more rural parts, like these, you see a lot of farmers suffering from back trouble," he says.

But the list is much longer, since "nerve interference" can affect so many parts of the body system, Anderson says. "Asthma, allergies, kidney disorders, dizziness ... chiropractors have helped people with all of these problems," he says.

A former Taco Bell manager and volunteer youth counselor, Anderson became interested in chiropractic treatment as a result of his wife's "amazing success story."

"Gail had been suffering from migraine headaches for years — some so bad, she ended up in the emergency room," he recalls. "She saw a lot of doctors, but nothing worked until she saw a chiropractor. Six weeks after she started with him, her headaches all but disappeared. Today, she doesn't get them at all."

Dr. Anderson emphasizes that he seeks to "work in cooperation, not competition, with a patient's physicians. There's room for all of us."

Prescribing a carefully planned diet and exercise program is often part of his "total treatment" plan, Anderson says. His comprehensive approach to health care has benefitted the Anderson family, as well.

"This (Anderson's work) has educated us to so many other areas of life," Gail says. "Exercise, nutrition, drugs." Lindsay had a drug free birth, Gail points out, and both parents closely monitor the family affair has other payoffs, Gail says.

In addition, making work a family affair has special payoffs, Gail says.

"Lindsay gets to spend equal time with Mommy and Daddy," she explains. "And my husband's really a partner/parent in bringing her up — something that's very important to both of us. I guess you could say we feel lucky to be doing what we're doing."

With a smile on their faces, Dr. Anderson and family await patients.

Plenty of reasons why Atchinson's 'No. 1'

By PAT RICHARDS
ANP Special Writer

With all the awards, it is easy to understand why Belleville's Atchinson Ford Sales, Incorporated, is the fastest growing Ford dealer in Western Wayne County.

Atchinson's motto is to remain the fastest growing. For the second time in eight years, they have won the Distinguished Achievement Award of Excellence for service and sales.

"Only a very few dealers nationwide get this award," said manager Skip Andersen. Skip was with another area Ford dealership for 19 years before joining the Atchinson Ford staff in 1981.

"Business each year gets progressively better," continued Andersen." Our 1981 - 1982 sales showed a 35 per cent increase and 1983 so far has shown a 5 per cent increase over 1982.

Skip, courteous, busy, and extremely efficient, won the 1982 Professional Sales Manager Award in the Ford Division. And this is the second time he has won this award.

Belleville's Atchinson Ford began its franchise on High Street, 1961 - 1966, opening in 1966 at 9800 Belleville Road.

At that time, Dutch Atchinson was owner and president, handing the keys to his son, Kurt, this summer in June.

Kurt was chosen for the 1983 Ted Kuckelman Award for outstanding community service from the Belleville Chamber of Commerce. The late Ted Kuckelman was a civic-minded community leader.

Atchinson Ford sports a new building for its used car lot operations under Ray Williams, Used Car Manager.

Huron nets $5,000 from rummage sales

Booster Club to use funds to purchase athletic equipment

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
Special ANP Writer

An all-time high of $5,000 was cleared by the Huron 6th Annual Labor Day Rummage Sale last weekend.

The sale, sponsored by the Huron Athletic Booster Club, topped by almost $2,000 the high mark established in 1981.

"I think it was marvelous," said Julie Martin, recording secretary of the Boosters. "It was a team effort. I saw the parents and the student athletes working together this whole weekend. That's what made it a success."

The rummage sale was held in the parking lot west of the Huron High School, across from the Michigan Memorial Park.

The largest amount of donations ever was received for the sale, Martin said.

This year, the Huron police department contributed all of its unclaimed items, which included a go-cart, several bicycles, and a brand new toboggan.

Patrick Schiller, newly-elected vice president of the Boosters, did the auctioneering of the police items, and he fetched $111 for the go-cart in his first auction experience.

Athletic Director John Cady, instrumental in getting the student athletes to help in this year's Boosters rummage sale, supervised the auction which was held at noon Monday.

The hours of the sale each day were from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Schiller estimated that about 5000 people visited the sale in the three days. Saturday morning the area was jammed, and more than $1000 was taken in on numerous small sales between 9 a.m. and noon, the sale's peak.

Plans for the rummage sale began 10 months ago, said Martin. About 30 families belong to the Huron Boosters and all were involved at some time or the other in getting the rummage sale off the ground, she said.

At least 11 people were managing the sale throughout the weekend.

Proceeds of the sale will go to the purchase of new football uniforms for the varsity Huron Chiefs football team.

Also, a $100 contribution is being made toward the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon.

The sale was organized by the Rummage Sale Committee which included Arnold Doede, Patrick Schiller, and Lawrence Martin, president of the Boosters. They were joined by their wives in the effort: Janet Doede-,Lois Schiller, and Julie Martin.

Other prominent contributors of work were: Jim and Carol Deason, Sheila Page, Joyce Lambly, Shirley Burgess and Wayne and Sue Younglove.

The Huron Chiefs varsity and jv football teams, and the golf teams were present to assist at the sale along with their coaches, Jaime Hinojosa, Butch Gubbini, and Chuck Unseld respectively.

Home sales pass 1982 total for August

Existing home sales in August showed a healthy 22.4 per cent gain from July despite mortgage interest rates through most of the period remaining at considerably higher levels than earlier this year, according to the latest statistical report of the Metro MLS.

Sale of 1,218 homes by Metro MLS members in August, compared to 995 in July, brought year-to-date activity to the 8,883 figure, which surpasses the 8,468 total sold through all of 1982.

For the eight months, sales have shown a 57 per cent jump over 1982 with a 44 per cent increase in August. The Metro MLS statistics indicate an 18.2 percent increase in listings this year-to-date with the August comparison reflecting a 15 percent gain.

The $60,578 average price reached last month is up 5.9 per cent from $57,158 a year earlier with the year-to-date figure of $58,172 up 2.5 percent from that in 1982.

Metro MLS, listing arm of the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors, covers a 1,600 square mile territory and includes a mix of urban, suburban and rural properties.

There comes a time in your life when you have to go out on your own. That's what Michigan Bell will be doing in January of next year, when we separate from AT&T and become a part of Ameritech, a new holding company for five midwest communications companies which include Illinois Bell, Indiana Bell, Michigan Bell, Ohio Bell and Wisconsin Telephone.

Frankly, a change like that could be unsettling, but we welcome the challenges it presents and the opportunities it provides to serve you even better. We've had time to think about it, to plan for it, to make sure that when you pick up your phone on January 1, 1984, you'll make those calls just as you always have. And you'll get the same reliable Michigan Bell service you've come to expect over the years.

Sure, there'll be some changes, but nothing we can't easily handle together. For instance, AT&T will be leasing you the phones Michigan Bell now provides you for a monthly fee. You may continue to lease them if you wish, or you may buy your own. The choice is yours.

There could be some changes in how your telephone repair needs are met... depending upon whether the problem is with the service or the equipment. Not a big thing for the most part, except for the possibility of new phone numbers to call if you need help.

You may notice one change right off... extra pages in your phone bill. That would be the result of your getting more billing information than you're used to seeing.

As we said, changes and choices... some now, some later... but nothing you can't take in stride with a little assistance. That's where we come in.

In the weeks ahead we'll be keeping you up to date with more detailed information on the changes as they take place.

We mean to make this transition as easy for you as possible because we want to be on the best of terms with you for a long, long time. After all...

IT'S AT&T
WE'RE SEPARATING FROM...
NOT YOU.

Facts down the line.
Because your telephone business office is busily engaged in normal, day-to-day telephone service matters, we are providing this toll-free number as a source for answers to the questions you may have about your changing telephone company. We also suggest that you watch for our informational messages in your newspapers and in your monthly telephone bills. 1 800 555-5000

Another look at foster care homes

The outburst of anti-foster care home sentiment expressed at the recent Romulus City Council meeting was just another reminder that residents in that city, and most surrounding communities, are still not ready to peacefully coexist with residents of foster care homes.

Whenever such a home is proposed one can be assured that residents of the neighborhood will flock council or township board chambers to voice their opposition.

Although most citizens don't realize that these public hearings on proposed foster care homes are just functionary and that council and board officials have little or nothing to say about them — because if the foster care home applicant receives state approval, the council can do little to stop residents from moving in.

Courts have supported the foster care home legislation and communities that have tried to challenge it have lost. It is unfortunate that local officials can't drive this point home — "that the matter of an applicant's approval for a foster care home is not in their hands."

The one alternative is to urge legislators to repeal or amend the existing law. Foster care homes should not be organized or built in "hostile" neighborhoods. The residents, usually mentally handicapped, do not need to be greeted by a neighborhood which doesn't welcome or want them.

We believe that instead of publishing an advertisement announcing that a foster care home will be organized in a neighborhood, the cities and townships should be allowed to publicize that a foster care home is proposed and which neighborhood is willing to accept it.

No, we are not that naive to understand most would accept any proposed home. However, if an area does decide to accept a home, that area should be given a incentive like a "tax break."

There are people in this world who still "love thy neighbor" — even if that neighbor may be a little different than they are.

Residents will continue to fight, use abusive language and curse legislators up-and-down for forcing them to accept in their neighborhood what they feel are undesirables.

We believe its time to re-examine the existing law(s) governing the sanctioning of foster care homes and try to find a "compromise" so that council and township board members don't have to take the abuse from residents who believe that they are shoving "those homes down our throats," and to assure residents that "they still live in a democracy."

A tension-filled neighborhood is not what living is all about.

For the sake of residents, of the handicapped who must reside in foster homes, of the local elected officials, we urge the state to take another look at the foster care home law.

To be a Parent

Sad to face — quite a blow!
But off to college she must go!
It's time to let go — set her free —
To find the "person" she wants to be!
The last of four to leave the nest —
We only hope we've done our best!
To be a parent is quite a chore!
You fret and worry — and always give more!
But the rewards are great — to sit back and see,
what each of them turns out to be.
When the last one leaves you sort of sigh —
Just can't believe how time can fly!
You remember "when" — the good things and bad —
and it tends to make you very sad!
But you're proud too — a job well done!
Mixed emotions — all rolled in one.
So take care little one — do us right —
We'll think of you every day and night!
We'll miss you lots — but that you know —
Carry our love everywhere you go!!!

Robert Peak: The man behind the 1983-84 USPS Olympic art

Robert Peak is a much-honored man of motion with a brush as well as a sports car enthusiast. So the selection of the New York artist to depict the "Faster, Higher, Stronger" theme of Olympic sports on U.S. commemorative postal items was a "natural".

Termed by his peers a genius in the field of illustration, Peak has designed 24 postage stamps, three postal cards and an aerogramme for the U.S. Postal Service to highlight the 1984 Summer and Winter Olympic Games. He is also illustrating a collector's full color book in which the Olympic stamps can be mounted and which will go on sale next summer.

"I love doing sports, it's so interesting," says the Colorado native perhaps best known for his motion picture promotion poster art and Time Magazine covers.

"When I got into painting," adds Peak, "sports was a logical subject for me because my art contains a lot of motion. Just as motion is vital to sports it is basic to my work."

Peak has "a major preoccupation and preference for sports car racing, a hobby with me. I worked an exciting assignment with Jackie Stewart for Sports Illustrated covering the Grand Prix circuit in Europe."

"I also did a portrait of Stewart as part of some Grand Prix coverage for Boys' Life," he continued. "And three times I've covered the Indianapolis 500."

As if to prove his versatility and energy, Peak "once designed four cars and had them built in the period 1969 to 1971. Two were experimental show cars, very futuristic in design, for the Ford Motor Company and two were specialty cars for Ferrari."

In creating his 28 Olympic postage designs, Peak mostly used gouache — opaque watercolor.

He has done commercial promotion art for approximately 75 films including "Superman," "Apocalypse Now," "Missouri Breaks," "Excalibur," "Roller Ball," "Camelot," "West Side Story" and "My Fair Lady."

Although his Time covers are mostly political in nature he did one on baseball pitcher Vida Blue and another on basketball center Bill Walton while the latter was at UCLA.

Peak's paintings of legendary sports figures have included Jack Nicklaus, John Havlicek, Billy Jean King, Rod Laver, Red Grange, Stan Musial and Wilt Chamberlain. His series for the Special Olympics as selected by a committee included interpretive paintings of soccer's Pele, Frank Gifford and Chris Evert Lloyd.

No stranger to Postal Service assignments, Peak has previously designed a 1969 stamp commemorating the 100th anniversary of college football and an embossed envelope dedicated to auto racing.

Fearful of his chances of making a living in art, Peak enrolled at Wichita State as a geology major but after obtaining part-time work in the art department at McCormick-Armstrong, he switched his major to his first love and later was accepted at The Art Center in Los Angeles.

When he first came to New York Peak was told his work was too 'flamboyant,' wouldn't sell. He tried being more 'laid back.'

"I was miserable," he admitted. "Finally my wife and I decided that I should do what I thought was right or we may as well go back to California and live on the beach. We burned everything I had done since I had been in New York and I started in just drawing, the way I wanted to draw."

A short time later, Peak landed the Old Hickory Whiskey account and "suddenly I went from nothing a week to $30,000 to $40,000 a year."

Peak's other accounts have included Coca Cola, Cosmopolitan, Puritan Sportswear, Sports Illustrated, TV Guide, Revlon and TWA.

He has taught at The Art Center in Los Angeles and has won countless awards icluding Artist of the Year from the Artists Guild in New York. In 1977 he was elected to the Hall of Fame of the Society of Illustrators which had given him eight gold medals and 15 Awards of Excellence.

"I had the normal run of sports activities in school, mostly in the area of track and field where I competed in the long jump and was a sprinter," Peak recalls.

Now he is in the midst of turning out the most comprehensive array or designs the Postal Service has ever commissioned on a single sports subject.

What's available now and later

Twelve stamps and postal card honoring the Olympic Games have been issued by the Postal Service — and there's more to come, Postmaster Patrick J. Tobin of Belleville said today.

"The number of 1983-84 Olympic issues is the largest ever," Postmaster Tobin pointed out. "In order that both sports fans and stamp collectors know where the program stands, there will be 12 more stamps, two postal cards and an aerogramme with Olympic themes issued before the Summer Games in Los Angeles next year," he added.

Already available at the Post Office are:

A block of four 40-cent international air mail stamps featuring weight-lifting, the shot put, women's swimming and men's gymnastics.

A block of four 28-cent international air mail stamps featuring women's gymnastics, women's basketball, soccer and the hurdles.

A block of four 13-cent stamps depicting the discus, boxing, women's high jump and women's archery.

A 13 cent commemorative postal card on yachting.

Before the end of the year, stamps will be issued featuring the pole vault, cycling, women's fencing and women's volleyball as well as international air mail postal card on speedskating and an aerogramme, Postmaster Tobin said.

Next year stamps will be issued for ice dancing, hockey, alpine skiing, cross-country skiing, women's long jump, women's kayaking, men's diving and wrestling he said.

Move over Krantz, Here comes Lila

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

Lila Armbruster is a story-teller.

And a good one at that. She's been telling and writing stories as far back as she can remember, even when this newspaper published in Garden City — and that's been some time.

Now, the former Associated Newspapers' staffer wants to tell her story. For a price.

"I'm working on my autobiography," said Mrs. Armbruster, who wants to become to the literary world what Grandma Moses was to the art — famous and wealthy.

"And that autobiography goes back to the turn of the century when "men were men" and "women acted like women who lived for their man and their family."

Wow. Move over Judith Krantz, here comes Lila Armbruster.

"All of my life I wanted to tell my story, and I believe that it will be readable and marketable," Mrs. Armbruster continued.

No neophyte to the world of the pica and purgatory which each writer who has entered the solidary life of "typewriter vs. words" must live and die by, Mrs. Armbruster sets the stage of her book with images that the past was beautiful.

"Growing up in a small northern Michigan town in the early 20ies was just fascinating now that I look back. I wish to capture some of that fascination and beauty in my writing," she says.

Extremely dignified and quiet, Mrs. Armbruster used to write a column for the old Garden City Review, a newspaper that belonged to the Associated Newspapers' chain. She wrote her column faithfully (and weekly) for nearly a decade before the newspaper was purchashed by another group.

The grandiose dream of writing a novel has always been in the "back of her mind," she admits.

"When Ray (her husband) died a year ago, I took out my old manual (typewriter) and started to knock out some things," she relates, "I gave them to some people to read and they liked it. Then I said to myself 'why not' and that's when I began seriously to devote some time to the manuscript."

That manuscript has become sort of an obsession with Mrs. Armbruster who said she hopes to finish it sometime before Christmas.

"You know I returned to the classroom to brush up on my writing skills so that I could attempt this task," Mrs. Armbruster added, "so I enrolled in a writing classs at Schoolcraft College and I was the first in the building and last out. The instructor was really nice.

"In fact I received a B-plus for the course," she continued. "Not back for a 76-year-old, right?"

Wasn't Grandma Moses that age when she sold her first work of art?

Good luck, Lila.

And we'll be waiting for an autographed copy of the book as soon as it's off the presses.

Lila Armbruster, at work.

MD softball tourney great

EDITOR — On behalf of the Charter Township of Canton, I want to extend a most sincere congratulations to Jack Falvo and everyone involved with the Muscular Distrophy Softball Tournament held at Griffin Park. I understand that with the $1,800 raised this year you have raised over $20,000 for Muscular Dystrophy in the last six years. That's a tremendous accomplishment.

In a time when we seem to be surrounded by bad news and negative attitudes, hearing about caring people who are willing to give of themselves for others certainly boosts my faith in our society.

Thank you for making Canton a better place to live.

JAMES E. POOLE,
Supervisor Charter Township of Canton

Firefighters are applauded

EDITOR — May I please use the newspaper as a vehicle to thank firefighters for a job well done in fighting a fire at the Lemontree Apartments.

Often times, management is too quick to criticize and too slow to compliment. I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for a job well done on August 17, 1983, at the Lemontree fire.

Your response time was super and your cooperative efforts as a team was exemplary. Unfortunately, it is at times like these that the community really gets an opportunity to understand the extent of your services. You are to be commended for caring enough about your community to put yourselves in a life-threatening situation.

The township is also grateful for the mutual aid which we received from Pittsfield Township, Ypsilanti Township, Augusta Township and Sumpter Township.

Again, thank you for an excellent and professional job well done.

DONNA L. HALL
Van Buren Fire Commissioner

Teacher was 'tortured'

EDITOR — Dan Henry, the Wayne-Westland teacher and basketball coach, was tortured and humiliated by a false accusation of a sex crime that he didn't commit.

But the little doll who caused Mr. Henry's ordeal goes scot free.

The media feels (apparently) that it doesn't even dare to publish the accuser's anme. Is that justice?

To initially accuse might be forgiven, but to insist to the bitter end is a horrible act.

Who are the parents of this person?

Doesn't her family fit into this picture?

Haven't they no responsibilities?

Why not give us the whole story?

A man's life has been shattered and only God knows how he has suffered. We hope that we have all learned something from this tragic story.

Carey lauded for her views

EDITOR — We hope you will find space to publish the letter to Mrs. Mary Lou Carey, Huron Township clerk. The letter was precipitated by an article that ran in the Associated Newspapers' Romulus Roman edition and written by Special Staff Writer, Jerry DeHarnais.

Dear Clerk Carey:

I read with interest the article in the August 31 Romulus Roman on your views on land fills in Huron Township.

I commend you on one of the fairest, realistic views that I have seen of an elected official on a controversial subject.

I also recognize the "bird-dog" approach that you took to get the complete answers you needed and how you recognized the real "core" issue.

I don't live in Huron Township; I live in Grosse Ile Township, but if I ever have the opportunity to support you, I surely will.

About teaching our children

EDITOR — Recently I observed a baseball team from Wayne playing in a tournament at Riverview (ages 11-12 years boys). The coach, as I understood was doing his best. He had explained to the boys and parents that he would try to play each boy in this game, and if he did not he would play in the next tournament to be held in Walled Lake.

However, each boy was asked to play for different individual skills, a pinch runner, a pinch hitter, and to pitch.

In the fourth inning of this game with Wayne behind 1-0, the parents began to question the coach. Why hasn't my son been played yet?

Players observing this got very nervous and the other team scored two more runs. During this time the other coach from West-7 baseball club had put in a pinch runner, who stole second base. I know the coach from Wayne very well. He would have positioned his players differently, if he had not been distracted by a few parents.

Our league in Wayne allows a coach to play the boys three innings; however, in a tournament this is not so.

Our own travel league teams do not use this rule (you must allow baseball to be played by American League rules).

I believe Wayne should have the rule that each boy plays at least three innings a game; however, when a team is in a tournament this should be left up to the coach.

Oh, by the way the team from West-7 coach only played 11 players.

Our Wayne coach made 4 substitutes, two boys did not play, one boy was going to pitch the next game if Wayne would have won. The boy who was pitching from Wayne was doing very well, and tossed a 3-hitter. The coach from West-7 had 20 players, as you can see he played only 11.

Well, you might say is this right? I have been in baseball a long time, and I know how we act as parents some time.

Our boys wanted to do their best, but parents maybe should tell our children, especially in this type of situation:

If the coach does not choose to play you, try harder, not in just sports but all forms of life. Maybe the boys are the ones he thinks he needs to do the job.

The coach is doing what he thinks is best.

But, if we teach our children to rebel, they will do so. We aren't always going to be able to rebel against authority (teachers, judges, baseball coaches, policeman). Our jails are full of rebels.

Wayne lost by a score of 3-2, West-7 went on to win the tournament. It was fun to see Wayne do so well, especially playing against boys their own age for a change.

I know if our coach from Wayne could have these boys all-year not just for a weekend tournament, they would have done very well.

And Wayne could have been proud of our young men.

He might not have made them world champions, but they would have been taught, teamwork, good moral values, and most of all how to deal with difficult situations.

He would not have pushed them into rebellion. I know my son has played for this coach for four years (Thank you for your teaching).

The Recreation Department should let those coaches and boys who have that extra ability have a travel team. It is good for our boys, and if a few parents do not like it, we should not deprive the ones who desire it Wayne has some fine young men who care for all our recreation programs.

A religious experience

JOYCE HAGELTHORN

I love the way little kids think about God. A long time ago when my youngest son had just passed his fourth birthday, he came tumbling down the stairs one early morning, his face wrapped in a big grin, and slid into a chair at the table.

"Pancakes!" he shouted, and while he slurped the maple syrup and shoved huge chunks of pancake into his mouth, he looked up at me and said, "I saw God last night."

That stopped my spatula in mid-air as I waited for the story.

"I was out in the backyard," he said, "and God put a great big ladder down and he hollered, 'Come up, little brother,' so I climbed and I climbed and I climbed, and pretty soon there was God, just standing there."

"Then what did you do? I asked, as he concentrated on another pancake.

"Nothin'", he answered. "But God picked me up and carried me all over Heaven and showed me everything."

"What is it like?" I asked.

"I forget," he answered, stabbing another chunk of pancake.

Several years before, our second daughter was being prepared for baptism. She was three years old, and some of her cousins and her baby brother were all going to participate — a mass baptism, I guess you would call it.

I told her what to expect, and how we were going to God's house and there she would have water sprinkled on her head and thus be accepted as one of God's children, or words to that effect.

She watched solemnly as the Episcopalian minister sprinkled drops of water on the heads of her cousins and brother, and listened to his prayer. And then it was her turn. He lifted her up into his arms, a tiny mite in a bright organdy dress. She turned her face to him and her large eyes watched as he went throught the ritual. At last it was over and we put the little ones into the car and drove away from the church. It was then she finally spoke.

"Daddy, I didn't see God there...or was that he po'ed the watah on m'head?"

When one of my grandsons was being christened, his three year old brother Jason was filled with excitement. The priest came out in his white vestments and Jason leaped from his seat, his eyes growing bigger and bigger.

"Is that God?" he asked in awestruck tones.

A few years later Jason and Jamie's youngest brother Bobby was to be christened. The little boy's mother had told them Bible stories and read to them extensively...all about God and heaven and the angels.

As we drove up to the church three year old Jamie looked up at the tall building.

"Where's this?" he asked.

"This is God's house," his mother answered.

"When did he move?" the little boy asked.

When our grandson Mike was almost two years old he lay in a coma for many days from meningitis. After he recovered he told his mother that when he had been sick in the 'big house' God had come down and took him up to heaven. He said that God carried him all over heaven and showed him everything and talked with him and then told him he had to go back because his mother was crying.

Today at 12 years, Mike says he will never be afraid to die. He knows that God in his heaven is waiting for him, because he told him so.

"God is just like people," he said once to me when he was just a little boy.

God is just like people.

That mystery called marriage

MONA GRIGG

Suzanne Dolezal wrote an outstanding piece in Sunday's "Detroit" (Free Press) magazine called "A good marriage is something you earn."

A group of us, who were together anyway, got to talking about that article. And we talked about it and talked about it and talked about it.

Just before we ended the evening, and after hours of each of us shouting to be heard above the rest, we concluded, all of us, that a) not one of us — not the "old-marrieds," the "new marrieds," the twice and thrice marrieds, not the ones married before but not now — knew what constituted a "good marriage;" b) one person's partner would often be another person's nightmare; c) the game of chance called "marriage" carries with it such long odds against longevity, it's a wonder any sane person would ever consider it; d) when it's good, it's very, very good and when it's bad, it's awful; and e) no "good" marriage is entirely good and no "bad" marriage is entirely bad.

Except for one little portion, I'm not going to quote from Dolezal's article. I thought about it, but there are so many good quotes, I would end up quoting the whole thing. If you're interested in what makes some marriages tick, find a copy of her article and read it.

But as for that one little portion, I'm quoting it because it was the one part that caused the most commotion the other night. It went like this:

"I fantasize about that one pefect woman out there who will have the ability to keep me excited, entertained and interested for years and years."

Those lines were spoken by "Ted," a man divorced for three years (after 10 years of marriage), after having sampled a "smorgasbord of women." as he puts it.

Ah, Ted, Ted, we reasoned, can't you see that it is you, and not the women you meet, who is at odds with the world? That there is no human being alive who is capable of taking on such a challenge? And that, by your very words, you have proven what a real creep you are — and if there was such a divine creature as you describe, you would be the last person on earth she would devote herself to? And who do you think you are, anyway, to expect such devotion? And what, pray tell, is she going to get out of it?

Even the men present agreed that "Ted" was a mindless creep and while we recovered from the effort of putting "Ted" in his place, a lone voice of dissent rose from the ranks.

One of us — a woman twice married to the same man, and twice divorced — couldn't see what all the fuss was about. Ted was looking for, in a woman, exactly what she was looking for in a man.

And why not? she said. "I gave 15 years of my life to that 'bleepin' bleep' and what did I get? Nothing! But the next time, it's gonna be different. The next time, I'm gonna take, and he's gonna give."

There wasn't a one of us brave enough to remind her that after six long years of actively searching for a taker (or in her case, a "giver"), no one had even applied for the position...

Each of us — even those involved in the same marriage — looks for different things: love (of course love, though some of us don't recognize it until it's too late), companionship, security, a sense of "belonging." Whatever.

But never possession, we all agreed. And always a certain amount of breathing space within the partnership. (Though some of us required more breathing space than others — and some of us we did were even lucky enough to be married to one another.)

So, we said, what would we tell the about-to-be-marrieds about marriage? We would tell them not to expect anything more out of it than they are prepared to give (our lone dissenter dissenting, of course), and to recognize one another as individuals in a partnership, and to remember that the person they are marrying now will not be the same person five or ten (or 20 or 30) years down the road. And if they can learn to live with that, they will have what "Ted" is looking so fervently for: a relationship that will keep both partners "excited, entertained and interested for years and years."

Other than that, we couldn't think of anything.

Memories

Former Romulus pastor once reigned as boxing champion

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Feature Editor

At the age of 52, Luther McGlocklin already has more than one man's share of memories.

"Mac," as he's known to his friends, is certainly not one to duck a challenge. Formerly an amateur welterweight boxing champion, McGlocklin was among the first black officers from his home state of Tennessee to be chosen for a Special Operation Unit that guarded the U.S. Capitol during the late 1960s. Today he's a police officer and a minister, a dual role he finds exciting and rewarding.

McGlocklin has served for 12 years on the Lower Huron Metropark police unit, which also provides police protection for Van Buren, Huron and Brownstown Townships. On Sundays he visits various churches in Romulus for "evangelistic preaching."

The former pastor of Second Baptist Church in Romulus sees no conflict between the two assignment.

"I like people," he explains matter-of-factly while relaxing in the living room of his townhouse. "A police officer and a minister both have to be able to be a friend, a counselor and even a psychiatrist at times.

"As a police officer your decision has to be split second . . . a pastor has a little time to think," he says with a smile.

Although soft-spoken and friendly, McGlocklin's background sugests that he also knows how to handle the "tough" situation.

He reigned as welterweight champion of the U.S. Air Force in Europe while stationed in North Wales during the 50s. Only four losses marred a 10-year amateur career that included nearly 200 bouts.

"I had an offer to turn pro when I was in my teens but my mother wouldn't let me," he recalled. "The welterweights today make too much money and they're not as good as we were. I only got trophies."

Following his career the staff sergeant trained boxers for the Air Force team with pro heavyweight Doug Jones among his pupils (Jones later lost to Cassius Clay).

Dodging fists was simple compared to two other assignments McGlocklin faced, however.

"I was stationed in an isolated part of Alaska for one year with the Air Force," he pointed out, "and it was one of the worst places I'd ever been to.

"Sometimes I still wonder how I got through that. I guess that's why I'm a nervous wreck today," he joked.

As a member of the prestigious Capitol police force, McGlockin received a first-hand view of the tumultuous activities of the late 1960s in Washington, D.C. The Hippie and Yippie movements, the Poor Peoples March and numerous demonstrations occurred during his years of service.

"We were responsible for crowd control," he explained. "There were racial remarks, people volunteering to get arrested and people trying to intimidate us. I even had human waste thrown at me. But we were trained to expect things like that."

Through all his experiences McGlockin has maintained his belief in "talking out problems" rather than resorting to force.

"I'll see a couple fighting like cats and dogs in the park and I try to reason with them," said the officer, who terms the Lower Huron Metropark as "the safest place around to take your family."

"The greatest joy is being able to help somebody. People react to the way they're treated."

'We were responsible for crowd control. There were racial remarks, people volunteering to get arrested and people trying to intimidate us. I even had human waste thrown at me.'

— Luther McGlocklin

Elvis--this model shines

ELVIS COSTELLO
"Punch The Clock"
(Columbia)

No longer the so-called "angry young man" of rock music, Elvis Costello seems to have all the bases covered these days. And the baserunning is unbeatable.

First came last year's stunningly sharp "Imperial Bedroom," which proved once again that Costello is one of, if not the, best songwriters around. But how does one improve on a masterpiece? One doesn't. One does, though, expand on it, and that's what Elvis has done with "Punch The Clock."

Opening with a strong one-two punch, the LP kicks off with the Stax-soul flavored "Let Them All Talk," which in one tune displays the strength Costello looked for on the "Get Happy" album, and follows up with his first bona fide hit single in America, "Everyday I Write The Book," which hopefully should take Costello on a hook-filled jaunt to the top of the charts.

Keyboardist Steve Neive is better than ever on the new LP, particularly on "Pills and Soap" and "T.K.O. (Boxing Day)," while the bass and drums are handled as adeptly as ever by Bruce and Pete Thomas.

Costello's songs are not only melodically meticulous, but his wit and penchant for one-liners is stronger than ever, giving the tunes yet another level of listenability. For instance, on "Love Went Mad," he sings: "I wish you luck with a capital 'F'."

Not that Elvis can't be deeply emotional — he often is, but it's his clever turn of a phrase that makes the lines memorable, for instance, in "The Greatest Thing," he claims: "Punch the clock and in time you'll get pulled apart/ If you're married on paper and not in your heart." In other words, don't do the crime if you can't do the time.

His penchant for looking at love/lust from a teenager's point of view comes through often, as it does on the single (and hit MTV video) "Everyday I Write The Book." "Don't tell me you don't know what love is," Costello sings, "When you're old enough to know better/WHEN YOU FIND STRANGE HANDS IN YOUR SWEATER!"

Some people are going to be discontent with "Punch The Clock," claiming that Elvis just doesn't have the same bite he used to have, back on "My Aim Is True" and "This Year's Model." Not true. Costello does still have that remarkable bite, only the aggressiveness is pretty much gone, replaced by insights on everything from war to personal relationships. But it's still every bit as good.

Costello sings: "Have we come this fa-fa-fa to find a soul cliche?"

Yep. But it was worth it.

STEVE NEIVE
"Keyboard Jungle"
(Demon Import)

The tour-touted solo expedition by Costello keyboardist Steve Neive has just hit the import racks, and while it's not for all tastes, it just may be to yours.

The two sides are chocked full of solo piano instrumentals by Neive, which range from near-classical to bouncier things, but nothing approaching what would be termed rock and roll. So rockers beware! (For those of you who appreciate fine musicianship and a deft touch, "Keyboard Jungle" won't disappoint.) Myself, I think it's a great change of pace from a player who's even more talented than we may have guessed.

Chocolate mousse cake has an amaretto 'secret'

To know temptation is to stand in front of a pastry shop window in Italy. Peering in at all the goodies — many of them complicated, curlicued creations — is a true exercise in self-control.

It's no surprise that the Italians' love of beauty is reflected in the mouthwatering offerings handsomely arrayed in their pasticcerie. No wonder Italian hostesses are inclined to purchase these elegant extravaganzas rather than attempt to duplicate them with living hands at home.

Fortunately not all Italian desserts require the skill of a veteran pastry chef. Many can be easily prepared.

Particularly popular are those wickedly good liqueur-drenched delicacies capable of leading even the most determined dessert-skipper astray. One liqueur often chosen for such spirited endeavors is Amaretto di Saronno. Acknowledged as being the "in" liqueur currently in this country, this intriguing liqueur takes kindly and deliciously to being a dessert ingredient. Its delectable flavor complements all manner of fruit and enhances custards, cakes and pies. And for sundaes you'll want any day of the week, pour some Amaretto di Saronno over your favorite flavor of ice cream.

If a trip to Italy isn't in the offing for you so you can sample some of the goodies firsthand, why not put your loving hands to work fashioning this luscious Chocolate Mousse Cake Saronno? It isn't all that difficult and the results are showy and yummy.

Chocolate Mousse Cake

6 ounces (1 package) semisweet real chocolate morsels
18-24 whole blanched almonds
½ cup Amaretto di Saronno
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
¼ cup water
4 egg yolks
⅓ cup sugar
2 cups milk
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten
2 cups (1 pint) heavy cream, whipped
2 packages (3 ounces each) ladyfingers, split

Place chocolate pieces in a bowl. Place bowl in another bowl of hot water. Stir until chocolate is melted. Dip bottom half of almonds into chocolate and place on wax paper. Chill until firm. Gradually stir Amaretto di Saronno into remaining melted chocolate. Set aside. In a saucepan, combine gelatin and water. Stir in egg yolks, sugar and milk. Stir over low heat until mixture thickens slightly and coats a metal spoon. Stir in chocolate mixture. Chill until mixture mounds. Fold in egg whites. Remove 1 cup of the whipped cream and set aside for decorating top. Fold remaining cream into chocolate mixture. Chill until mixture mounds. Line the bottom and sides of an ungreased 9-inch springform pan with split ladyfingers. Pour in chocolate mixture. Chill until firm. When ready to serve, pipe rosettes of reserved cream around outer edge of cake. Press a chocolate almond into each rosette. Chill until ready to serve. Makes 1 9-inch cake.

Junior Study Club sets open house meeting

The GFWC Belleville Junior Study Club will sponsor its annual membership open house at 8 p.m. Sept. 21. This meeting, open to the public, will provide an opportunity for area women to learn more about the local group.

The Belleville Junior Study Club, which operates under the auspices of the Michigan State Federation of Junior Women's Club and the General Federation of Women's Clubs, does volunteer work in the Belleville community. Its six main fields of interest lie in arts, education, public affairs, home life, international affairs and conservation.

At the local level, the Belleville Juniors have sponsored such service projects as "Identi-kid" in the Van Buren Public Schools; after-school art classes in three elementary schools and the "Giving Tree" which provides hundreds of gifts for needy children at Christmastime.

The group has also been active in the support and operation of Girlstown and has taken a leadership role in several local crime reduction projects such as "Neighborhood Watch" and anti-shoplifting programs in the schools.

Membership in the club is open to all area women. For further information or to make reservations to attend this informative, no-obligation meeting, contact Nancy Sawyer, president, at 697-0764.

Women new to the community who are interested in making new friends and discovering what goes on in the area are encouraged to attend.

potpourri

By Lee Smith
Suburban Living Editor

It's doubtful that any of us stop to think how often we refer to products by their brand names rather than their generic classifications. I got to thinking about that as I added "Crisco" to my shopping list the other day. It's not necessarily one of the prime examples here, but in my own book, shortening is always "Crisco" no matter what 2-pounder I finally choose.

It all comes from habit and having heard items "branded" by our parents and acquaintances over the years. The titles of the oldest-running products (the guys who got there first) seem to roll off our tongues as casually as our telephones numbers.

Take for instance, "Kleenex" — how many times have you heard anyone ask for a facial tissue? It's practically always "Mom, do you have a Kleenex?" or "Darn, I forgot a Kleenex?"

It's the same with cellophane tape, wouldn't you say? It's come to be a national by-word hearing the stuff called "Scotch Tape." Despite the fact there are a number of other labels on the market, we've credited the originator (at least the one who made his brand stick) for as long as this person can remember.

How about the gelatine we use for salad molds and desserts? Don't we all seem to lean toward "Jell-O" whether or not we're really using that famous 5-letter word in our cooking?

We seem to be getting away from asking for "Sanka," however. Now that restaurants are brewing decaffeinated coffee and we no longer have to fuss with those irksome little orange and brown packets, the Sanka name is slowly losing its dominance; at least so with Yours Truly who first questions whether a place brews its "decaff" —be it Brim, Hills Brothers or a house specialty — then orders. But for years, "Sanka" was synonymous with that "other kind" of coffee.

Plastic wrap for covering food is another one. Is that the way you think of it or do you, too, put it on your grocery list as "Seran?"

And because "Cool Whip" got its foot in the door first, we'll no doubt give it credit no matter what non-dairy whipped product we're folding into our fancy desserts.

It's "Windex" I grab when I'm doing mirrors and glass, not window cleaner; "Accent" I toss into my market basket, not MSG (monosodium glutamate; "Brillo" pads I scour with even though they might be generic balls of steel wool; and always a "Q-Tip" I reach for around the make-up mirror, never a cotton swab!

Creatures of habit, that's what we are, programmed bipeds who've helped make the General Mills, Purex, General Foods, Kimberly-Clark, Colgate-Palmolive, 3-M and Proctor and Gamble companies and others of their ilk the big names they are on the Dow-Jones circuit.

For all the word-of-mouth publicity we've given them over the years, we deserve that proverbial 10 percent agent's fee, don't you agree?

Or maybe... a free sample now and then?

ABOUT THOSE GIFT HORSES —

SHE WAS an old-fashioned girl and deeply concerned about her boyfriend's lavish spending habits. Tactfully, she tried to suggest that he build a nestegg rather than shower her with gifts but he didn't take the hint.

Finally, she consulted her mother. Wise in the ways of the world, the mother had a simple solution to stop the boy from spending all that money. She told her daughter, "Marry him!"

New on the scene

Emily Ann Dildine

Pink is the "in color" these mid-September days at the home of Dan and Roxanne Dildine, 6570 Cowell in Brighton. And the reason is their infant daughter, Emily Ann, who made them a family on Sept. 2.

The petite newcomer, who made her debut at 3:26 a.m. at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, weighed 4 lbs. - 4 ozs. and measured 18¼ inches.

The couple's first child, she is the granddaughter of Rex and Veronica Morris of Belleville and the first grandchild for Harvey and Barbara Dildine of Ann Arbor.

Two great-grandmothers receiving the birth announcement were Jean Wallace of Paducah, Ky. and Verald Adams of Litchfield, MI.

The new mother is the former Roxanne Morris.

EDITOR'S NOTE: News of your baby's birth, that of a grandchild — in this area or elsewhere — or that of former residents are welcome additions to this column. Call 697-9191 with your information.

PM's meet for luncheon at McKelvey's

The first meeting of the Past Matrons' Association of Belleville Chapter No. 73, OES, after the summer recess, was held at the Bemis Road home of the president, Florence McKelvey on Thursday, Sept. 1, with 18 members present for the usual 12:30 luncheon.

The hostess was assisted in serving by her granddaughters, Kim and Amy McKelvey, and her husband, Charles.

A short business meeting was conducted by the president. The Chaplain, Eva Lupher, read an article entitled "Vital Keys to Fervent Prayer," followed by the Lords Prayer repeated in unision.

The hostess presented a scrambled word game with Mae Fielder and Eva Lupher being the lucky winners. Each member on leaving was given a jar of homemade crabapple jelly.

Lenore Gaddy will be the October hostess.

September Days — coming events

With fall classes started and travel schedules in the planning, September Days' fall and winter activities have begun.

To give the new season a special start, two events are set for this month which should appeal to all members. Remember Granny's Attic Sale last spring? A similar event will take place Saturday, Sept. 24, at the Van Buren Township Hall on Tyler Road from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Fall housecleaning will be a lot more fun if you plan to rent for $5 a table where you can sell all those goodies you no longer need.

Or if selling is not your "thing," why not donate all those items to the Seniors? The will put the profits toward the purchase of their new van.

Everyone in the community is urged to donate articles and/or come on the 24th and carry home a lot of treasures!

Call 699-7474 as soon as possible for further information, to rent a table, or to donate articles.

Western Round-Up

The Western Round-up will be an honest-to-goodness cowboy-cowgirl affair — costumes, chow, music, dancing — on Friday, Sept. 30, from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Everyone is invited to wear Western garb, sunbonnets, chaps, etc. Prizes will be given to the most authentic Dale Evans and Roy Rogers.

A "Chuck Wagon" dinner at 6:30 will be followed by music, square and round dancing with Jack LaPan the caller.

Only $5 for the evening! Better make your reservations soon to avoid disappointment. For further information call 699-7474, or come into the Center.

Our mistake

In the Sept. 7 section of Suburban Living, we inadvertently mispelled the name of the bride-elect in the Weedon-Carrier engagement announcement and also credited the wrong church for the ceremony.

The item should have read "Kimberley" Weedon rather than Kimberly and "the Oct. 8 wedding will be held at Calvary Baptist Church of Ypsilanti" rather than Victory Baptist Church of Belleville.

Lawn, garden guide

The days are getting shorter and summer's winding down toward fall, but there's no lack of lawn and garden tasks. Michigan State University Extension specialists suggest the following activities are timely in September:

— Order spring-flowering bulbs to plant outdoors in late fall or to force indoors in midwinter. Begin preparing beds now.

— Plant spring — and summer-flowering perennials, including iris, peonies, daylilies and phlox.

— When strawflower blossoms are about half-open, harvest them to dry for arranging this winter. To dry flowers, hang them upside-down in a dry, well ventilated area out of direct sun.

— Save tomatoes, summer squash, peppers, eggplant and other tender crops from the first killing frost to extend the summer harvest. When frost threatens, cover plants with blankets, newspapers, plastic or some other material that will trap heat given off by the soil. The cole crops — including broccoli, cauliflower, cabbage and Brussels sprouts — carrots, parsnips, lettuce and spinach will tolerate some frost.

Glenn, Wayne win big in openers

Rockets shoot down Belleville, 17-0

When opportunity knocks, one shouldn't turn his face.

And Westland John Glenn didn't as the Rockets took advantage of several crucial Belleville mistakes to beat visiting Belleville 17-0 before a shirt-sleeved crowd at Kionka Field Friday night.

"It was a great win because we worked hard and we have something from which to build," said Glenn Coach Chuck Gordon, beginning his seventh year as the Rocket mentor. "It's easier to build from a win than from a loss."

Glenn took the opening kick-off and moved it steadily downfield behind the running of senior tailback Craig Thornton (6-1, 167) and senior fullback Tom Forchione (5-8, 164).

"Our running game was decent. It has to improve. I'm not sure we ran as well or blocked as well but it was a good start for the opener," said Gordon.

A couple penalities set them back but the Rockets persevered and got the ball down to the 26-yard line. In came Chris Piazza, the junior kicker, for his first field goal attempt as a varsity player. With holder Mike Troup placing the ball down, Piazza boomed it through the uprights for a 27-yard field and Glenn had a 3-0 lead.

But on the ensuing kick-off, Belleville nearly put themselves out in front when Leonard Armstrong took the hand-off on a reverse and raced downfield with no one in front of him. Or so he thought. Junior Scott Lucas (6-0, 165) put on a burst of speed and brought down Armstrong on the 15-yard line.

"It turned out, although we didn't know it at the time, to be the play of the game. Lucas gave an honest effort on that play," spoke Gordon of the incident following the game.

Belleville, led by quarterback Bob Courter (Sr, 5-11, 160) and tailback Armstrong proceeded to move the ball closer to the goal line. But Glenn's defense, led by Forchione at nose guard and Tim Naughton, stifled the Tigers' offense and forced a fumble at their own three-yard line, recovered by junior defensive end Jeff Meixner (6-2, 163).

An obvious relieved Gordon commented: "They were knocking on the door to take a 7-3 lead and then we take the ball and move it 97 yards in 18 plays to take a 10-0 lead. That was the ball game."

In the second quarter, senior quarterback Jeff Hawley, beginning his second season at the helm of the Rockets, took over as he led the Rockets on that long drive down the field. Hawley used every receiver available to him, plus the running of Thornton and Forchione, and got the Rockets down close.

Two crucial plays kept the drive alive. Rob Bell, normally a receiver, used his legs on this drive. He picked up 20 yards to the 20-yard line and had his team within striking distance.

However, Belleville's defense refused to give up that easily as they held Glenn to very few yards and soon had them fourth and one.

Here, Coach Gordon decided to go for the first down. Thornton took the hand-off from Hawley and led by Mike MIller and Ron

Defense is key to season

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Because most of this story was "cut" last week because of space limitations in our special Prep Football Review, the Associated Newspapers is running the story again for Westland and area football fans.)

November 5...the clock on the Kionka Field scoreboard was ticking off the final seconds of the 1982 season for the Rockets of Westland John Glenn when the partisan crowd rose as one and applauded the Rockets lustily.

This group of 45 young men, particularly the 23 seniors who were about to complete their careers in the red, white, and blue of the Rockets, had given its fans many things to cheer about during the previous three years at Glenn.

And, in return, these young men were being treated to the same enthusiasm that had saluted eighteen other Rocket teams in the past.

Now another season, the 20th in Glenn's storied football history, is about to begin and already the 1983 version of the Rockets is stirring up memories of some of the great Rocket football teams of the past.

Coach Chuck Gordon, beginning his seventh year as the Rocket mentor, and his staff have done a lot of work already in preparation for the new season and look forward with hope.

"Going into the season, we're inexperienced so the key is how quickly we mature. The players have a great attitude, and with that, we can make things happen."

The Rockets have their work cut out for them, facing a tough schedule beginning this Friday night at home against Belleville at 7:30 p.m. Then it is onto Northville on Sept. 16 before the league season begins in earnest at the Pontiac Silverdome on September 24 against Redford Union. The trip to the Silverdome will be the third in two years for the Rockets.

In 1982, Glenn was 2-0 at the Dome.

Garden City follows on September 30 and Thurston visits Kionka Field for Glenn's Homecoming (October 7). The Rockets travel to North Farmington on October 15 and conclude the league season at home against Livonia Franklin on October 21.

Coach Gordon sees "North Farmington as being extremely tough in the Northwest Suburban League as will Redford Union who returns nearly every starter. Livonia Franklin, as defending champions, can't be written off and neighter can Garden City. But the league race will be wide open with everyone having a shot at the title."

The Rockets conclude their season at home against non-

It didn't get away

While fishing this summer out of Harbor Marine on Lake Huron, Dennis Ruark hooked a 16 pound, 9½ oz., 33½ inch lake trout which earned him an invitation to appear on an outdoor TV show and a Master Angler Award presented by the Department of Natural Resources. The captain of the boat, Cecil Evans, and Dennis's father, were equally impressed. Dennis says that they were fishing in the Grindstine City area in 130 feet of water when he got the tug on the line and immediately fought the fish for some time before hauling it in.

Spartans breeze past Huron, 14-0

Coaches will tell you that "winning the opener is always good."

And, at the expense of New Boston Huron, Coach Jerry Pawlowski and the Cherry Hill Spartans posted an impressive 14-0 season opening victory on Saturday in 90-degree plus heat.

"We're always happy when we can win the first one or any game for that matter," Pawloski said. "We're an inexperienced group and winning is important right now to build confidence."

Huron's Jamie Hinojosa said that he was disappointed in the Chiefs' initial outing and that the performance proved what he and his staff knew all along — "our players have a lot of work ahead of them."

The Spartans scored early in the second quarter after an 8-play, 55-yard drive with Dave Kevnick's one-yard quarterback sneak. Mike Merriman went in for the 2-point conversion, giving the hosts an 8-0 lead.

Cherry Hill had a TD called back earlier when Mike Magyar intercepted a pass and raced 45-yards into the end zone. However, a "clip" penalty nullified the score. In that 8-play TD drive, Kevnick hooked up with Leon Gipson for a 23-yard pass that kept the momentum going. Gipson caught four passes for 113 yards while Kevnick connected on six of 11 tries for 125 yards.

Cherry Hill scored an insurance touchdown in the fourth quarter after a second Huron inception. Bob Bryer stole the errant aerial at the New Boston 35 yard line and thre plays later Merriman dashed 15-yards for the touchdown.

Merriman chalked up 72 yards on 16 carries and one touchdown.

Pawloski praised his offensive line which is made up of six underclassmen: John Williamson (center), Tom Baylock (guard), Dan Sanchez (guard), Mike Johnson (tackle) and Lou Menev (tackle) for its outstanding performance.

Defensively, linebacker Todd Cabanaw and Merriman who combined for 18 tackles between them stood out, while Matt Edwards, Magyar and Bryer each had an interception. Dan Goll, a defensive halfback, was involved in five key third down play tackles and Chris Eziadosz contributed to the Spartan victory with his play as a defensive tackle.

The Spartans open the Tri-River Conference phase of the season Friday night at Melvindale where Pawloski believes his team will have to improve 100 percent to stay on the field with the Cardinals.

"Melvindale lost their opener to a tough University of Detroit team," Pawloski noted, "but I felt that Melvindale played well against them. They will be tough."

Zebras usher new era with 33-0 win

Wayne Memorial could not have played a more perfect football game.

Scoring 11 points in the first quarter, Coach Floyd Carter's Zebras went on to overwhelm non-conference rival Garden City 33-0 in blistering heat Friday night to launch a historic season.

"It felt good to win," said Carter on a night that a cool dip in a swimming pool would be welcomed. It was near 90-degrees at kickoff time. "We played an excellent first game and the kids did an excellent job. All of them."

Carter had to shuffle many of his players in-and-out of the lopsided contest because of the heat.

Wayne dominated every phase of the game.

After the opening kick off, quarterback Mike Quartuccio engineered a 67-yard, nine play drive which was culminated by a scoring pass to Marvin Parnell that covered 33 yards with 6:21 remaining in the period.

A faked extra point attempt that saw John Cota hit Matt Mason gave the Zebras the two-point conversion.

Mason set up the next Wayne score when he intercepted a Garden City pass and the Zebras covered 13 yards in four plays where Carter called on kicker Dennis Korzetki for a 25-yard field goal which split the uprights.

Wayne turned the 11-0 first quarter score into an 18-0 rout early in the next frame. An excellent punt return by Mason gave the Zebras possession of the ball at the Garden City 26 where Quartuccio picked out his favorite target, Parnell, for the game's second TD.

With a comfortable 18-0 halftime lead, the Zebras didn't rest upon their laurels. They came back for a pair of touchdowns in the third period on Mason's one-yard TD lunge that capped a 39-yard drive in nine plays. He scored the final TD of the night with 3:04 left in the third period, also a one-yarder which wrapped up a 26-yard drive in five plays.

Sandwiched in that action was a blocked punt by Doug Mac that led to a safety thanks to Todd Shreve's sack of Garden City quarterback Steve Worosz in the end zone.

Mason wound up with seven carried and 52 yards that included two TD runs while Michael Jackson picked up 50 yards on 12 attempts. Quartuccio, whose career passing yardage now stands at 871 yards, is closing in on former Wayne QB, Pat Bledsoe's all-time record of 1073. The senior signal-caller hit on two of six passes for 69 yards and two touchdowns. He was also intercepted once. Cota was one-for-one for 11 yards.

Edwards, Mason and Cota each intercepted while Edwards collected two.

Carter commended the defensive play of Shreve and Pollis Robertson who were instrumental in stopping Garden City's potent aerial offense. The Cougars connected only on six of 22 passes.

Lincoln Park, a loser to Ypsilanti, 33-27, in their opener a week ago invades Wayne Memorial Friday night to usher in a new era. It will be the first meeting of these two arch rivals in the newly-created Wolverine "A" Conference.

"Ypsilanti always has an excellent team," Carter noted, "and when a team can score 27 points against them as L.P. did, you have to be wary of them. Lincoln Park must be doing some things right."

Mandle named NAIA 'Player of Week'

Ex-Canton QB stars for Saginaw

Rusty Mandle is back at his old position — quarterback — and Saginaw Valley can be mighty happy for it.

Mandle, who earned recognition as a top-notch quarterback while at Plymouth Canton, was mainly used as a defensive end by Saginaw last year but when first year coach George Ihler got a look at him, he decided to use Rusty as the QB.

And Mandle, a 6-2, 200-pound senior, responded with what is considered the upset of the week in the National Athletic Intercollegiate Association ranks as Saginaw tripped up 17th nationally ranked Liberty Baptsit College 18-15 in the grid opener last Saturday.

For his heroics, Mandle was named NAIA "Player of the Week."

Mandle's credentials to fame included one touchdown pass and 93 yards rushing on 15 carries. He engineered a 75-yard sustained drive late in the game that ended with the quarterback scoring from 10 yards out. That fourth-down, seven-to-go situation came with 1:55 remaining in the game and provided Saginaw with a 16-15 edge.

With former All-State wrestler, Joe Rice, of New Boston sacking the the quarterback for a safety, Saginaw got its final two-points. Rice, a defensive tackle, finished with three solos and five assists.

Another former area prep star who has joined the Saginaw grid ranks, Shawn Slayton, also of New Boston, figured in the victory with two keys interceptions and four tackles.

Rockets soar

Nastal, picked up the first down.

A minute-and-a-half later, the Rockets sat poised on the three-yard line. This time, Hawley went to the air and found Meixner in the corner of the end zone. Meixner leaped, caught the ball, and Glenn led, 9-0. Piazza's extra point try was good, and at 8:41 of the second quarter, Glenn led, 10-0.

"Even though we were shut out, I felt that our football team did a lot of good things," Colletta later said. "We know its going to be a tough rebuilding year. Courter threw the ball well and Ron Schubert also stood out for us. Our offensive line came up with decent pass protection."

Colletta praised the work of his linebacking corps of Chris Krebs and Ken Krug.

In that first series of Glenn plays, Derrick Smith picked off a Hawley pass at the 23-yard line but a pass interference call nullified the play.

"We had some opportunities but our inexperienced caused us to muff them," said Colletta whose troops head for Monroe for their Wolverine "A" Conference debut on Friday night.

Belleville made several valiant attempts to get something going offensively. Armstrong, who gathered 56 yards on the night, could have had a lot more yards if Glenn's defense didn't take away his outside running game.

"We have tremendous respect for Armstrong," said Gordon. "We felt he was a threat to score everytime he touched the football. To contain him is a credit to our defense."

At the half, with Glenn leading 10-0, the Tigers entered their lockerroom down but not out and coach Mike Colletta was devising ways to get his team on the board.

The way Colletta came up with was to go to the air. But Glenn's defense was ready for that strategy. Naughton personally broke up two passes at the line of scrimmage and Forchione accounted for a sack. The defensive backfield of Lucas, Doug Corbeil, and Cass Simpson bottled up the Belleville receivers effectively, allowing the defensive line to put pressure on Courter.

Gordon had praise for his defense saying, "the fact that we came up with the big play on the fumble and the shutout is a credit to our defense. The defense was a key to the game."

Glenn scored late in the third quarter on an 8-yard run by Thornton, who tallied his 106 yards on the night and helped his dad, Roger, celebrate his birthday. For Thornton, it was his second 100-plus yard performance in two varsity starts. Last year, he had 156 yards against Thurston.

While the game was an exciting one, perhaps the most exciting play was one that had no effect on scoring. Ron Taig, a junior receiver, outfought a Belleville defender for a pass and after performing a "vertibale juggling act" (as Rocket announcer Tom Kelly put it), caught it for a 37-yard gain and had the crowd on their feet cheering.

That was just about the way Belleville's night went as Hawley completed 8 of 11 passes for a career high 123 yards.

Next week, Glenn travels to Northville for a game against the Mustangs, a team Gordon feels that his Rockets will "have their hands full with. They have an excellent running back and tremendous size. Every year that we play them, the game is tough and hard-fought and we expect the same kind of game this year."

Caesar's wins world crown

It was a dramatic climax to an incredible softball season.

Little Caesar's, ranked No. 1 nationally throughout the 1983 campaign, captured the United States Slo-Pitch Women's Softball Association's World Championship staged over the Labor Day weekend in Omaha, Nebraska.

Losing once and forced to rally from behind on two separate occasions after being down by as much as six runs, Caesar's managed to pull out the coveted world crown, topping some 49 teams that had won their way into the world tournament.

The Little Caesar's team started off with three wins from teams from Colorado, Wisconsin, and Kentucky.

Then, they lost to the Sunshines, out of Jacksonville, Fla. The score was 11 to 4.

"We just had a bad game but the girls were determined to fight back," said Coach Bill Schwartz. Caesar's then beat La-Plata's Raiders out of Detroit 4 to 0 on a 1-hit shuthout by Renee Burnie and went on to play Third Fault Lounge out of Maryland. The Lounge jumped off to a 6 to 0 lead but Caesar's never said die. They came back to win 8 to 7.

On Labor Day the first game was against Avanti's out of Minneapolis, Minn. Avanti's also jumped off to a 6 to 0 lead in the first inning but Caesar's collected 27 hits to finally win 19 to 10.

Caesar's had to play Famous Recipes out of Cincinnati, Ohio, a team which had beat Caesar twice in the year at other tournaments.

But Caesar's prevailed 7 to 1, behind the hitting of Pattie Silye who had a 3-run home run. Caesar's had to play Huntel Systems next out of Blair, Neb. Caesar's came out on top 12-7 which was a very big win because they also beat Caesar's in St. Charles, Ill., 12-1.

The victory finally brought them back to where there were only 2 teams left. Caesar's had to win them both for the world championship.

Sun Shiners, out of Jacksonville, was waiting with no losses. The first game, led by Pattie Silyes' 3-run home run and 7 BRI lifted Caesar's to a 16-2 victory. This set up for the championship game which meant Caesar's would have played five ball games in seven hours... not an easy task in 90 degree weather.

The championship started with Caesar's leading off with three runs on Carmen King's 2-run home run and Pattie Silye's solo homer. The game was close for six inning before Caesar's finally put the Sun Shiners away 15 to 7. Caesar's collected 21 hits.

The big difference on the last day was lots of hitting and no errors the final four games.

The team scored 125 runs to opponents 43 runs for the complete tournament.

Hitting stars included: Pattie Silye, 706 avg., 8 home runs, 25 RBIs, Most Valuable Player; Lynn Putnam (6100; Dottie Davis, (552); Nancy Gumtow, (529); Carmen King, (486) which included 5 home runs; Kim Archer, (459); Tish Miller, (450); Kim Gallow (448); Mary Crechiolo (444); Renee Burnie (417); and Mary Wesley (400).

Glenn gets down to grid business league rival Highland Park and at Wayne Memorial.

For the first time since Chuck Gordon has been head coach, the Rocket offense will be directed by a returning quarterback. Jeff Hawley (6-0, 142) came off a successful season as a junior in 1982 leading the Rockets to a 7-2 record by throwing for 611 yards and 7 touchdowns. Hawley, who is six TD passes short of a school record, started nine games last year and that is a plus for us," said Gordon. He had a great preseason."

Senior Doug Corbeil (5-10, 158) will be the back-up quarterback as well as start in the defensive secondary for the Rockets. The third quarterback will be junior Cass Simpson (5-10, 153).

Last season, Gordon had two outstanding backs in the backfield in Todd Jennings and Don Forchione. Jennings rushed for a school record 1071 yards and Forchione provided the bulk of the blocking for his running mate. This year, the Rockets boast two more fine runners from their stable of sprinters in seniors Craig Thornton and Tom Forchione.

Thornton (6-1, 167), younger brother of former Rocket back Scott, showed what he could do last year when he started one game and amassed 156 yards. Forchione is the younger brother of last year's fullback and is one of the captains of this year's squad. Alternating with Forchione at fullback will be junior Dana Jones (6-6, 189) and is an outstanding blocker.

The receiving corps will feature two players who played extensively last season in Rob Bell (6-1, 147) and John McKolay (5-10, 171). Between them, they accounted for 4 touchdowns and 278 yards. Derik Genovese (5-8, 125), a senior who saw little playing time last year, and Ron Taig (Jr., 6-2, 167) will bolster the corps even more and provide Hawley with plenty of targets at which to aim his passes. Said Gordon, "All have looked good. The play of the split receivers has been a real plus in early going."

Tight end, a position filled so capably last year by John Ericson and Todd Mills, will be filled this season by Frank Sprinkle (6-0, 180) and Jeff Meixner (Jr. 6-2, 163).

The offensive line was hurt by graduation last year but Gordon believes he has put together a fine unit that "will be the key to the season. If the guys in the trenches can come through, we'll be able to move the ball well,"

Co-Captain Mike Miller (6-3, 235), described by Gordon as "playing real well at the moment," will anchor the line. Junior Jim Vojak (6-0, 214) will play the other offensive tackle spot. Snapping the ball at center will be senior Ron Nastal (6-1, 166). The offensive guard spots will be handled by three players: seniors Dan Strehl (5-11, 195) and Tim Naughton (Sr. 6-2, 187), and junior Matt Johnson (5-8, 172).

Defensively, the team will take on an almost entirely new look from last season. The only returning starters from the 1982 defense that surrendered only 40 points are defensive tackle Miller and middle guard Tom Forchione.

"The defense is the key to the season. If we can play defense the way it has been played the last two years and like it is supposed to be played, we'll have a great season."

The defensive end spots will be the hardest shoes to fill for Gordon, after losing All-Stater Jack Walker and All-Area player Ericson to graduation and college football. But Gordon feels he has two good ones — Jim Jakary (Sr., 5-11, 173) and Meixner, who are capable of doing the job.

Franklin edges Churchill, 15-12

First-game errors abounded here: a few fumbles, interceptions, some penalties and some dropped passes.

The bottom line was that the team that rose above the sloppy play and heat would win.

Franklin, which fielded a club with a predominance of inexperienced juniors, rose above and beat cross-town rival, Churchill, on Saturday, 15-12, at Franklin in 90 degree heat.

Both quarterbacks were intercepted too many times.

Both saw passes dropped.

Both overthrew their receivers, too.

The teams got steady performances from their runners — for Franklin it was mainly full back Randy Hurst with help from tailback Joe Karcher, and for Churchill it was tailback Robert Foust. Foust went 43 yards for the first touchdown, and Hurst got 38 yards to the Charger 19 but the Patriots didn't score.

Churchill got the lead on their opening possession. The Chargers won the toss, ran Foust twice, then John Fraser hit slotback Erwin Anderson-Smith for 13 yards and a first down. Foust rushed for 2 more. On second down and eight, with the Charger line flooded right, Foust swung left all alone and ran for the score. John Stoitsinots' extra-point try failed and the Chargers led, 6-0.

Franklin stalled on their first series, as two Rob Drabicki passes failed. They punted, then Churchill couldn't move and they punted. Franklin was unable to move the ball again, and kicker Larry Patzsch nailed a 57-yard punt.

Both teams struggled during the next four series. Then the Chargers gave Franklin the ball in their territory, fumbling on a disorganized play. Linebacker Glenn Brandon recovered at the Churchill 23. QB Drabicki, who had been 0 for 7, hit Larry Patzsch in the end zone for his first completion. The kick was good and Franklin took the lead, 7-6.

Both offenses stalled through the rest of the half. Churchill's Fraser was picked off twice, and Franklin got penalized twice. John Stoitsinots, a Churchill junior, came in to relieve Fraser and threw a 34-yard-gain to Anderson-Smith, but time ran out.

The second half went much like the first. About halfway through the third quarter, however, after Stoitsinots intercepted a Drabicki pass, the Chargers to a drive going. They were penalized for holding, then moved the ball steadily on the ground. Stoitsinots rushed for 21 yards to the Franklin 11. Then, with the Charger line again set up to the right, Anderson-Smith ran a clear path to the end zone. Stoitsinots was stopped short on the two-point conversion try.

The teams exchanged punts again, then Drabicki led an erratic scoring drive that gave Franklin the victory. The Patriots lost five yards on a motion penalty, almost lost a fumble, but offset those with Drabicki's scrambling, Hurst's solid running and a few complete passes. The Patriots got to the Charger 8 and scored as Hurst rushed on three straight plays. Drabicki ran it in for the two-point conversion. Franklin led 15-12 and hung on to win.

Patriots coach Armand Vigna admitted that his team played some erratic football. He feels that the Patriots have a lot of questions that need answering, but a few were resolved.

"We're inexperienced. We even made mistakes on substitutions," Vigna said.

Home field continues to 'jinx' Romulus

If Coach Norb Glover and Romulus hoped that 1983 would bring an end to their home field jinx, it just didn't happen. Since switching from the high school gridiron to North Junior High where lights were available to play night games, the Eagles haven't been able to post a victory.

And Friday night was no different. Willow Run's speedy grid machine rolled up a 21-7 first half score before burying the Eagles 28-7 before the home crowd in the season opener.

"We just weren't ready ot play football," said sophomore Coach Glover who is yet to win on the home turf. "We didn't execute well and we committed a handful of fumbles.

Six to be exact, coach. And that can kill any momentum a team has.

Willow Run got on the scoreboard in the first quarter and made it a 14-0 game before the Eagles decided to get down to work. That work came in the form of a spectacular 50-yard pass-run play which teamed quarterback Terry Roache and Darrin Grandison, who made it to the Flyers' four-yard line before he was brought down.

Then, with 1:50 left before the intermission, Vince Morris scored from four yards out. Jerome Austin kicked the extra point and the Eagles were momentarily back in the game.

Momentarily? That's right... with one minute left the Flyers marched right back and got on the scoreboard.

"Our defense fell apart," Glover said. "If we had gone into the lockerroom trailing 14-7, it may have been a different ball game."

The two out-of-league rivals played to a scoreless third quarter before Willow Run scored midway in the fourth quarter for the final tally.

Roache hit on six of 15 passing attempts for 136 yards, while Austin rushed for 60 yards on 15 carries.

Glover attributed some "but not all" of his team's inadequate offense to "first game jitters."

"I won't take anything away from Willow Run," Glover said. "They played a good football game. But we helped in our demise. When you commit six turnovers you eventually pay for it."

Glover believes the Eagles can come back against Milan, a team that defeated Airport in their opener. Romulus will travel to Milan Friday night for their second encounter of a different kind.

"Milan doesn't have the overall speed that Willow Run has," the Eagle mentor said. "But they have experience, something we lack at this point. We had a good practice on Monday and I believe we will be ready."

Romulus cagers perfect; Huron splits

After tying the game in the final seconds of the fourth period on a pair of successful free throws, Cheryl Hawk sank five points in overtime to lead Romulus to a 52-51 cliffhanging cage victory over Adrian last week.

The 5-5 senior guard finished with a game high 17 points in a contest that the Eagles were forced to come from 13 points down with 6½ minutes to play to finally win it. The Eagles received 10 points from Donna McKay and also got a superb effort from Bonita Meeks who hauled down 14 rebounds.

The Eagles also turned back Belleville 42-31 earlier in the week for their first win over the Tigers in recent years. With Colleen McKay tossing in 10 points and Hawk and Donna McDay splitting nine points, Romulus worked to a 10-5 first period and never trailed.

The Eagles were in front 26-13 at halftime, then outsocred their rivals 9-5 in the third period.

Tammy DePriest sparked the losers with eight points.

Romulus will return to the hardwood Thursday night at home as host to an always tough Ypsilanti quntet.

In the meantime, New Boston Huron split at the Woodhaven Tournament, losing to Southgate 34-28 in the opening round but whipping a hapless Harper Woods 41-10. Woodhaven defeated Southgate in the finals to claim the title.

Huron foward Kim Laurain dumped in six of her seven points in the third period to knot the score against Southgate, but the Chiefs lost starting guard Tara Keith in the fourth period due to a knee injury and sophomore center Ann Kosacheff fouled out, taking the steam out of the Huron rally.

Annette Vitale was the top scorer for New Boston. She sank eight points.

Vitale rattled the nets for 16 points in the lopsided 41-10 victory over Harper Woods. Coach Ron Smith, entering his 21st season of coaching, will send his girls up against Willow Run on Thursday. The Chiefs have a 1-1 record going into the non-league contest at home.

An Inside View of Burn Nursing

Being part of an internationally respected health care team is demanding!

Nursing in the Michigan Burn Center takes a willingness to be involved. Working with physicians, and other highly skilled health care staff, our Burn Center nurses are called upon to use every skill they have acquired to help patients and families survive and cope with severe burn trauma.

The Burn Center is a "mini" hospital in its own right, having its own labs, operating rooms, and intensive care stations. Here nurses are intensively involved with patients and families from admission through discharge. Here there is "Caring" in its most critical and sensitive moments.

If you have the nursing skills and the sensitivity to work with burn patients, and thrive on challenge, the Burn Center is interested in you. Nursing here will not only be a rewarding opportunity for professional practice, but with the educational and career programs of the University at your disposal, it could be the beginning of a new career.

For a closer look at what employment in the University Hospitals Burn Center can mean to you, please call collect or write to: Betty Radcliffe, Nurse Employment Office, University of Michigan Hospitals, 300 N. Ingalls, Box 50, Ann Arbor, MI 48109, (313) 763-4600. A Non-Discriminatory, Affirmative Action Employer.
